Eisenhower Shuns Quiz On Outlook

Irked By Newsmen Query Over Charge Made In Speeches

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH.
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower said today the electorate obviously voted for spending advocates in giving the Democrats greater control of Congress.

At a news conference, Eisenhower called any trend toward bigger federal spending a dangerous one.

He pledged that his administration will fight hard against it during his last two years in office. Speaking against the background of sweeping Democratic election triumphs, Eisenhower emphatically replied—not at all—when asked whether he expects to have additional trouble during the next two years in dealing with Congress.

"Managed To Get Along"
Eisenhower added he always has managed to get along pretty well with Congress. He said he is confident that Democrats as well as Republicans are motivated by what is good for the country.

The news conference was dominated by questions about the outcome of Tuesday's elections, which gave the Democrats the tightest control of Congress since New Deal days.

Eisenhower opened the conference by asking whether there were any questions, and then joined in the laughter when the first reporter stood up and said: "Yes sir."

Two or three times, Eisenhower refused to be drawn into any prediction or expression of opinion regarding any effect the vote may have on Republican potentials for the 1960 presidential nomination.

Asked whether Nelson Rockefeller's election as governor of New York made him a strong presidential possibility, Eisenhower replied he hadn't even given that matter any thought. He did say he is delighted by Rockefeller's victory over Democratic Gov. Averell Harriman. He added that he sent Rockefeller and some other GOP winners congratulatory telegrams this morning.

As for Eisenhower's oft-stated goal of molding his party along what he calls lines of modern Republicanism, the President said that not for one minute is he discouraged.

He said somewhat grimly that anyone who has as strong principles as he has cannot afford to be discouraged. He recalled that during World War II he suffered military setbacks at Kasserine Pass and in the Battle of the Bulge.

Fire Sweeps New Airport

ZAVENTEM, Belgium (AP) — The main building of Brussels' new international airport was wrecked Tuesday night by a fire due, at least indirectly, to premature opening of the airport.

A helicopter rescued two persons trapped in the control tower. Officials said the fire was started by explosion of a small oil stove installed on the ground floor to supplement a still erratic heating system.

The airport was opened to traffic before completion to handle the crowds attending the World's Fair last summer.

CHICAGO (AP) — Grain futures prices opened steady to strong in active dealings on the Board of Trade.

Right-To-Work Law Loses In Five Out Of Six States

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Efforts to pass so-called right-to-work laws were beaten or losing in five out of six states today. Voters in the sixth state, Kansas, approved a law guaranteeing workers the right to work without having to join a union.

Organized labor, backed by its political allies — including an Eisenhower cabinet member — soundly trounced right-to-work proposals on the ballots in California, Ohio, Colorado and the state of Washington.

In Idaho, the sixth state where the issue was before the voters, the vote was 113,361 to 110,896. The margin was a 113,361 to 110,896. The margin was a 113,361 to 110,896.

Thor Blasts To Pieces At Florida Site

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — A powerful Thor intermediate range missile—the heart of moon rocket Pioneer—blew apart with a brilliant flash shortly after launch early today.

It was the fifth straight time that a ballistic weapon had exploded in spectacular style in the past few months. The shattered sections of the missile appeared to plunge into the Atlantic just off the Cape.

The Air Force announced a malfunction occurred about 30 seconds after liftoff and that the missile was destroyed by the range safety officer.

The 65-foot war rocket blasted aloft at 3:53 a. m. from a huge pool of orange flame. It began to veer left and right almost immediately.

After about 25 seconds, still pouring out a thin trail of flame, the Thor suddenly jerked to the left. At that point, the range safety officer pressed a destruct button and the missile burst apart.

Flaming debris rained into the water. A huge black cloud hung against the moonlit Florida sky.

Missile men hoped the launching would give them a preview of the next Air Force Pioneer moon rocket, shot which the National Aeronautics and Space Administration says will take place late this week.

In an adjacent tower less than 500 yards away stood a multistage Thor which is believed to be moon rocket No. 3.

Arabs Forecast Israeli Attack

CAIRO (AP) — The Cairo press said today Arab armies have taken up positions and are ready to go into action in event of any Israeli attack.

The Daily Al Akhbar asserted Israel may attack Jordan next Monday when the press said King Hussein will leave for Europe "possibly on a permanent vacation."

There has been speculation Israel would occupy the west bank of the Jordan if Hussein is ousted.

Cooler Spell Due In Area

BALTIMORE (AP) — Five-day forecast: Rain ending Thursday afternoon in the west and in the afternoon or evening over eastern sections; with chance of more rain about Monday. Turning cooler Friday and over the weekend and warmer on Monday. Temperatures will average about three degrees below normal, and rainfall will be light to moderate. Normal highs are in the 50s and lows range from 37-43 to 29-35 in the mountains.

Korean Reds Face Rebuff In UN Talks

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The U.N. Assembly was expected to deal a quick defeat today to Communist demands that the North Korean Reds be invited to join in the Assembly's annual debate on divided Korea.

The 81-nation Political Committee, Soviet Dep. Foreign Minister Valerian Zorin is pressing the usual Russian demand that North Korea as well as the South Korean Republic participate in the debate.

The United States again has proposed that only the South Koreans be invited. The Americans contend that allowing the "puppet regime" of North Korea to join in the discussion would elevate it to an equal footing with "the only lawful government in Korea."

The United States and 11 other countries which fought the Communists in Korea have put in a formal proposal that the Assembly call once more for a unified, independent and democratic Korea.

The Assembly has adopted similar resolutions in the past without result.

Storm Kills 500

DACC, East Pakistan (AP) — Nearly 500 persons were believed killed in a violent storm that hit coastal districts last week, official sources said today.

Storm Rakes Plains Area, Rain General

By The Associated Press.
Blustery winds, which fanned a Pacific storm across the northern Rockies into the Plains states, dumping snow in northern areas, spread into the Midwest today.

Wet weather persisted in the Southeast states. Showers were in store during the day for most of the eastern third of the nation and much of the Pacific Northwest.

Gusty, shifting winds up to 60 m.p.h. powered the storm through the northern and central Plains during the night. Ahead of the cool front, strong southerly winds increased through the mid-Mississippi Valley.

As the driving storm spread eastward, temperatures dropped rapidly as far south as northwestern Kansas. Winds with gusts of more than 85 m.p.h. lashed Wyoming and continued to whip up dust in western Nebraska and Kansas Tuesday night. Snowfalls ranging from 4 to 6 inches were reported in northern Montana.

Wife Of Singer Improves After Injury In Fall

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Singer Allan Jones' wife is reported to be much improved at the UCLA Medical Center.

Mary Florsheim Picking Jones, 38, heiress to the Florsheim shoe fortune, was hospitalized Sunday. She was suffering from an overdose of sleeping pills and a head injury suffered when she fell from a stretcher while being taken from her home.

Police said Mrs. Jones apparently attempted suicide after an argument with her husband. He denied this.

Democratic Solons Take Bigger Edge

Bricker Defeated But Scott, Keating Survive Landslide

By JOE HALL.
WASHINGTON (AP) — Democrats today piled up their most sweeping Senate victories since the days of Franklin D. Roosevelt. In Ohio, they exceeded even their most optimistic pre-election predictions by topping Sen. John W. Bricker, long a Republican party stalwart.

Other Republican senators who went down to defeat included George W. Malone of Nevada, Arthur V. Watkins of Utah, and Edward J. Thye of Minnesota.

But Republican Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona crossed up Democratic hopes with a re-election victory over Gov. Ernest W. McFarland, former Senate Democratic leader trying for a comeback.

Scott Defeat Leader
Republicans also sent Reps. Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania and Kenneth B. Keating of New York to the Senate to replace retiring GOP members whose seats had been in doubt.

With only the Senate race in Wyoming yet to be settled, the Democrats had clinched 61 seats in the new Congress opening in January. This was 11 more than the majority of 50 required for control.

It also represented a gain of 12 seats over the 49 the Democrats held in the 85th Congress — gains that were made in California, Connecticut, Indiana, Maine, Michigan, Minnesota, Nevada, New Jersey, Ohio, Utah and two in West Virginia.

In Wyoming, Republican Sen. Frank A. Barrett was locked in a race with his Democratic opponent, Gale W. McGee, 43-year-old dean of history at the University of Wyoming.

Not since the Roosevelt administration have the Democrats won such one-sided control of the Senate. Their high mark for the last 15 years was 57 seats in the 78th Congress, elected in 1942. Democrats elected 55 senators in 1940 and 75 in 1936.

For the past four years, the Democrats have clung to only a two-vote Senate margin most of the time. They had a 48-47 edge at the windup of the 85th Congress in August.

Sees Four-Year Control
It will take 50 seats for control in the new Congress because there will be 98 senators instead of 96 when Alaska elects two Nov. 25.

Jubilant Democrats said today their new Senate margin was so big that it virtually assured them control of that body for four years, no matter which party wins the presidency in 1960.

The Democrats will have 21 Senate seats at stake in 1960, as against 11 for the Republicans. But 10 of the Democratic posts are in the South and three are in border states which normally go Democratic.

Senators John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.) and Stuart Symington (D-Mo.) both piled up tremendous votes for easy wins in their re-election contests. And in New Jersey former Rep. Harrison A. Williams (D), a protégé of Gov. Robert Meyner, captured a Republican seat handsily in what had been tabbed as a touch-and-go race.

Meyner, like Kennedy and Symington, figures frequently in talk about the national Democratic ticket two years hence.

In addition to the Williams' triumph in New Jersey, these were the states where Democrats captured seats now held by the GOP.

Connecticut — Former Rep. Thomas J. Dodd piled up a big margin over Sen. William A. Purtell, seeking a second term.

Iraqi Envoy Seized, New Crisis Feared

WASHINGTON (AP) — The arrest in Iraq of a former revolutionary leader with pro-Nasser leanings may spark a new crisis in the Middle East.

Baghdad radio announced Tuesday night that Col. Abdel Salam Aref had been seized and "will be tried on a charge of plotting against the country's interests."

Aref was a close associate of Premier Abdel Karim Kassam in the first weeks of their rule following the overthrow of the regime of King Faisal in 1958.

Subsequently, Aref was removed from both top military and cabinet posts and was given an appointment as Iraqi ambassador to West Germany. He was arrested, the Baghdad radio announcement said, when he returned to Iraq's capital city without permission.

U.S. officials said there was no doubt that there had been a power struggle between the two men revolving around a critical issue of policy. Aref favored very close association or union with the United Arab Republic of President Gamal Abdel Nasser, while Kassam wanted and has followed a more independent policy based on neutrality in foreign relations.

Some authorities here thought that the seizure of Aref by Kassam's government might force some vigorous reaction from Nasser against that government or Kassam personally. But they commented also that if Nasser felt his prestige was not directly involved or the force of his Arab unity movement not impaired, he could choose to ignore the whole affair.

Experts said the action against Aref also could precipitate a political showdown inside Iraq. They reasoned that Kassam probably would not have acted unless he had been confident of his own power.

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope John XXIII today hailed the ideals of his predecessor, Pius XII, and said that he intended to follow them.

The Pope spoke to special missions from some 50 non-Communist nations and other official representatives who attended his coronation Tuesday.

Dixiecrat-GOP Coalition Seen As Possible In House

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democrats scored sharp gains in Tuesday's house elections but not enough to prevent possible control by a Republican-Southern Democratic coalition.

All across the country they swept out incumbent Republicans. But their gains did not approach the 75 GOP representatives ousted in Harry S. Truman's 1948 presidential victory, and fell far short of the 97 Republican upsets which accompanied Franklin D. Roosevelt's first election in 1932.

The Democrats swept out all six Republican representatives in Connecticut, tossed out three in Maryland and elected the first Democrat to the House from Vermont in more than 100 years.

And they sent a Democrat to replace a Republican in the House from President Eisenhower's home district of Gettysburg, Pa.

With returns still straggling in, it was just a question of how big the Democratic majority would be. Here's how the score stood early today:

Democrats elected, 270; Republicans elected, 132; Democratic gains 41; Republican gains none. The House elected today takes office next January, along with one representative to be chosen in Alaska Nov. 25.

Party Gains Big Margin In Congress

Greatest Victory Since Roosevelt's New Deal Period

By WILLIAM T. PEACOCK and JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democrats surged in Tuesday's elections to their greatest control of Congress since New Deal days in the battles for state governorships, they smashed the Republican hold on California and made over-all gains.

But Gov. Averell Harriman, one of the party's national leaders, was chopped down in New York by Nelson Rockefeller, a rocketing new star for the GOP.

This outcome of the "battle of the millionaires" was the happiest spot in the picture for the Republicans. However, they also ousted the Democrats from governorships in Arizona, Oregon and Rhode Island while losing in California, Maryland, Nevada, Ohio, South Dakota and Wisconsin.

Nixon Future Clouded
Rockefeller's victory plumped the action of old John D. into the GOP presidential picture for 1960. It beclouded, to some extent, at least, the future of the No. 1 prospect for the GOP presidential nomination—Vice President Richard M. Nixon. And, of course, it virtually wiped out Harriman's chances for the Democratic nomination.

In California, too, the epochal mid-year elections were fraught with possible portents for 1960. Sen. William F. Knowland, considered a potential contender for the GOP, went into a sudden eclipse. He lost a contest for governor to Edmund G. (Pat) Brown. Brown's emphatic victory was sure to get him talked about for the big Democratic prize two years hence.

The election gave President Eisenhower a record he was far from dealing. He's the first president in history to be confronted by three Congresses controlled by the opposite party.

Counting of the tide of votes—perhaps reaching to 48 million or more — was still continuing this morning. A few races were still inconclusive.

But the indicated division in the new Congress, based on returns as of 8 a. m., shaped up in this fashion:

Senate: Democrats 61 or 62; Republicans 35 or 34. The undecided Senate race was a battle in Wyoming where Republican Sen. Frank Barrett was opposed by Democrat Gale W. McGee. These figures leave out of account the two senators Alaska will elect Nov. 25.

House: Democrats 284; Republicans 151. One additional House member will be named by Alaska.

Recall 1940 Election
The indicated Senate lineup is the most predominantly Democratic since the party elected 65 senators in 1940. That was the year Franklin D. Roosevelt won his third term.

The Democrats have not had so many House members since 1936 when they elected 333.

In the present Congress, which will give way in January to the newly elected one, the party division is — Senate: Democrats 49, Republicans 47; House: Democrats 235, Republicans 200.

In Ohio and California voters balloted "no" on referenda on the question of enacting state right-to-work laws. Unions were fighting these proposals which would bar any requirement for union membership in order to hold a job.

Rockefeller Stature Given Boost

Liberal Republican Could Be White House Timber

By RELMAN MORIN

NEW YORK (AP) — A fresh, vivid, vote-getting personality flashed across the political skies today, like another satellite shot into orbit, and in its wake arose a question:

Will Nelson Rockefeller, the new Republican star, be a contender for the presidential nomination in 1960?

He says not. "Believe me, boys," he told persistent reporters Tuesday night when it appeared certain he would be elected governor of New York, "I haven't given a thought to 1960. I really am not interested."

But an hour or so later, after Democratic Gov. Averell Harriman had conceded, and a ballroom full of Republicans were going wild, people began yelling: "Rocky for president . . . Rockefeller in 1960."

To many Republicans, he has many assets. They say:

1. He is a liberal and now becomes the rallying point for that wing of the party which is, at best, lukewarm to Vice President Nixon, apparently the leading contender for the nomination at this point.

2. He would be more likely to exert a pull on the independent voter than Nixon, and less subject to partisan attack—provided he does a good job as governor of New York.

3. He has just discovered campaigning, and appears completely enthralled with it. "No matter what happens," he said, "I've had a wonderful time." (When he was shaking hands in a gasoline service station, his son Stephen said to a reporter, "Let's get out of here before he starts shaking hands with the gas pumps.")

4. He seems to have a natural gift for campaigning. Rockefeller is a political Perry Como, so relaxed he gives the impression that it is fun, not work. He has an engaging grin. He talks easily, and as long as anybody wants, "I like people," he says.

Lawrence Wins Battle, Leader Loses To Scott

PITTSBURGH (UPI)—Mayer David L. Lawrence of Pittsburgh clinched a long reign as undisputed leader of Pennsylvania's Democratic Party by slaying through to the governorship Tuesday, but Republican Cong. Hugh D. Scott provided the real fireworks with an upset victory over Gov. George M. Leader in the 20 and the fourth Democratic U.S. Senate race.

Leader's heretofore meteoric rise to political prominence was stopped cold at the Executive Mansion at the age of 40, the lone Democratic casualty of ticket splitting.

The party's three other statewide candidates, for lieutenant governor, secretary of internal affairs and a state Supreme Court judgeship, rode in on Lawrence's vote tide.

The four-term mayor of Pittsburgh hit the target on his first try for a state elective office, at the expense of Arthur T. McGonigle, wealthy Reading pretzel manufacturer who was bidding for his first public office after entering politics as GOP state finance chairman.

Good Voter Turnout

More than 60 per cent of the state's 5,397,407 eligible voters turned out in generally pleasant weather to make the 69-year-old Lawrence Pennsylvania's 39th constitutional governor next Jan.

CBS Reveals $64,000 Quiz Goes Off Air

NEW YORK (AP)—The $64,000 Question has been answered for the last time.

The Columbia Broadcasting System announced Tuesday that the quiz program by that name had its final television screening last Sunday.

The program—first of the big money quiz shows—is being replaced by "Keep Talking," a comedy panel show in the 10 to 10:30 p.m. (EST) Sunday night time slot on CBS.

The "Question" thus joined the mounting scrap pile of abandoned TV quiz shows. Their ratings plunged after an investigation this fall into complaints that some contestants were coached on answers.

Eisenhower

Eisenhower remarked that you can't be discouraged about such things—you must look on them as opportunities of some kind.

CAMPAIGN CRITICISM — He disavowed having directed campaign attacks at the Democratic party as a whole. He did that when a reporter spoke of the President's statements that the opposition favored reckless spending and demagogic and extremist tactics.

Hits "Spending Wing"

The reporter wanted to know how, in the event of the Democratic triumph, Eisenhower proposed to fight the opposition in Congress. Sharply, Eisenhower told the reporter he had not read his campaign talks accurately. He went on to criticize what he called the spending wing of the Democratic party.

Then Eisenhower commented on the danger of big federal spending. He said the government has to refund about 50 billion dollars in long-term bonds next year, and about 23 billion dollars worth of short-term notes.

He said it will be necessary for the administration also to find about 12 billion dollars in new money.

Then, Eisenhower said, we have got to stop spending if we are going to prevent further dilution of the American dollar.

OUTCOME ANALYSIS — A reporter reminded Eisenhower that during the campaign he said the choice was between left wing government dominated by Democratic radicals, or sensible government under Republicans.

The newsman wanted to know whether Eisenhower thought the voters had chosen left wing government.

Eisenhower replied that the electorate obviously voted for people he would class among the spenders.

Then he said that during his final two years in office—provided the Lord spares him—he intends to fight against any excessive spending.

CAUSE OF DEFEATS—Eisenhower said he agrees with Meade Acland, the GOP national chairman, that the Republicans never start fighting until about the last two weeks of the campaign, instead of waging the battle constantly.

He called on fellow Republicans to start campaigning today in an effort to win in 1960.

Harriman Gets Setback In Rockefeller Victory

NEW YORK (AP)—Republican Nelson A. Rockefeller's election as governor by more than half a million votes skyrocketed him today as a possibility for the 1960 GOP presidential nomination.

The multimillionaire's overwhelming triumph over wealthy Democratic Gov. Averell Harriman stood out particularly because of its contrast with Republican defeats in other states.

It also appeared to knock out whatever chance Harriman may have had for the Democratic presidential nomination two years hence. Harriman had sought the nod in 1952 and 1956.

The campaign spearheaded by Rockefeller also led to election of Republican Rep. Kenneth B. Keating of Rochester as U.S. senator.

Keating, regarded as an underdog throughout the campaign, defeated Manhattan Dist. Atty. Frank S. Hogan for the office Republican Sen. Irving M. Ives is vacating for reasons of health.

Returns from 11,464 of 11,525 election districts gave:

Rockefeller 3,102,064; Harriman 2,542,435.

Returns from 11,364 districts gave:

Keating 2,804,102; Hogan 2,670,365.

Rockefeller has insisted — and repeated today — that he is not interested in 1960 possibilities and that he has "no other intention" than to serve his four-year term as governor.

But his supporters have been talking him up as a possibility since it first became apparent that he might win the state election.

Nevada — Howard Cannon, Las Vegas city attorney, ousted George W. Malone (R-Nev.), a two-term veteran.

West Virginia (full six-year term) — Rep. Robert C. Byrd won easily over Sen. Chapman Revercomb.

West Virginia (two-year unexpired term) — Former Rep. Jennings Randolph got an equally big margin over Sen. John D. Hobbitt Jr., appointed to the Senate when the late Sen. Matthew Neely (D-WVa.) died early this year.

Minnesota—Rep. Eugene J. McCarthy turned back the re-election bid of Sen. Edward J. Thye.

D'Alesandro Tastes Defeat In 24th Race

No Tears, Little Emotion Shown As He Phones Beall

By WILLIAM B. HARWOOD
BALTIMORE (AP) — Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro, a winning politician for 32 of his 55 years, lost his 24th try for public office yesterday.

He was the only Democrat to lose in a landslide election which gave his running mates every major office in the state and Congress for the party's greatest victory in 30 years.

Although certain to be a candidate next May for a fourth term as mayor of Baltimore, his loss yesterday was akin to a political death blow.

The atmosphere was heavy in the small, crowded hotel room where the mayor conceded his first defeat to Republican Sen. J. Glenn Beall.

Little Show Of Emotion

There were no tears. Little show of emotion of any kind. Just lots of straight faces as Tommy D'Alesandro picked up the telephone to concede.

Reporters and photographers about equalled D'Alesandro aides and supporters—some 30 all together in the small room.

Flash bulbs popped and cameras whirled as the mayor dialed the phone.

"Smile Tommy," urged Newton Brewer, Montgomery County political leader and staunch D'Alesandro ally. Tommy smiled briefly.

It was exactly midnight when the mayor started the call. The television set all but ignored in the corner of the room then had the mayor trailing Beall by 11,000 votes. He ended up losing by almost 14,000.

Unable to get Western Union by telephone, the mayor tried to call Beall directly.

For six long, still minutes, busy signals and disconnects interfered with the loser's effort to congratulate the winner. Then they connected.

"Glenn, congratulations," the mayor said. "Don't cry now. . . . God bless you and good luck to you. . . . That's all right Glenn. . . . God bless you and your family."

Reads Formal Statement

The mayor then hurriedly read a 34-word formal statement of concession to the press.

A television announcer urged him to join his victorious running mates downstairs before the cameras in the hotel ballroom.

"I don't want to go to any ballroom," the mayor replied.

"Tommy," Brewer gently admonished, "go on."

But the mayor firmly declined. He shook a few hands. Smiled a few more times for the cameras. Then he sought the seclusion of an adjoining room, behind a locked door with only a handful of close friends.

Upstairs and downstairs, on virtually every other floor of the big downtown hotel, Democrats celebrated.

But the defeat of Tommy D'Alesandro on the fifth floor was very much felt elsewhere.

George P. Mahoney, the mayor's nearest rival of six losing primary opponents and long at odds with the mayor in election after election, summed up the sentiment: "Democratic harmony and unity made it a great victory for almost everybody — local, county and statewide. I'm heartily sorry we lost our U. S. senator — Tommy D'Alesandro. . . . It's a pity he could not have had the good fortune to win with the others."

Tree frogs are heard most often during damp weather and just before storms.

West Virginia Voters Approve Constitutional Amendments

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—West Virginia voters approved four changes in the state constitution Tuesday — the largest number of amendments adopted at one time since 1902.

Approved by decisive overwhelming margins were all four amendments proposed by the 1957 Legislature, including the controversial "Better Schools Amendment" and one providing for appointment rather than election of the state school superintendent.

With more than 90 per cent of the state's 2,006 precincts tabulated, the unofficial margins were: Better schools amendment—For ratification, 267,044; Against 150,662.

School Superintendent — For, 221,436; Against 181,911.

Exempt money and bank deposits from property taxes — For, 366,503; Against, 33,036.

Permit corporations to issue non-voting stock — For, 190,390; Against, 141,655.

Only a simple majority is required to ratify a constitutional amendment.

Rarely Had Four

On only three previous occasions since the present constitution was adopted in 1872 had as many as four amendments been submitted at one election, in 1902, 1930 and 1934. All five were ratified in 1902, all four were rejected in 1930 and three of four were approved in 1934.

Only the Better Schools Amendment, identical with one rejected by the voters in 1934 under the name "taxation and finance amendment," had aroused major opposition.

It will allow counties, with 50 per cent approval at later special elections, to impose excess property tax levies for school purposes equal to 100 per cent of the regular tax limits, for periods up to five years. Present limits are 50 per cent for three years.

All major school groups had supported the amendment, along with organizations like the State Chamber of Commerce, while the State Farm Bureau spearheaded the opposition. Backers of the amendment said it would merely allow counties to raise more money for schools if they wished to, while opponents claimed it could lead to confiscatory taxes on real estate.

Appoint Superintendent

The other educational amendment provides that the state appoint the superintendent. (Continued on Page 5)

Where to go for information about a second income

If you hope to have—as millions have—a second income from stocks or bonds, then you'll be interested in where to find help. You don't have to be rolling in money. An estimated two out of three shareowners have incomes under $7600 a year. Many are acquiring stock on the New York Stock Exchange for as little as $40 every three months through the convenient Monthly Investment Plan.

Select a Member Firm

A Member Firm of the New York Stock Exchange is where you go for help. It's remarkable how many services the Member Firm performs.

A Registered Representative or a Partner there will share his knowledge and experience with you without charge. Member Firms spend millions of dollars, all told, in research to get information for their customers. This is most important, for not every company makes a profit or pays a dividend or interest. Always invest on facts—never just on tips or rumors. Remember that stock and bond prices go down as well as up. And use money left over after living expenses are paid and emergencies provided for.

The nation's market place

Once you've decided to buy stock on the New York Stock Exchange, the rest can be extraordinarily swift and easy. The Member Firm promptly notifies its representative on the trading floor of the Exchange of your decision. The Exchange is an auction market place where orders to buy and sell come together. There a seller is found, and the transaction is often carried out in a few minutes. Your representative on the trading floor will buy for you there at the lowest price he can. When he sells he will get the highest price he can.

One of the advantages of owning stock on the New York Stock Exchange is that whenever you want to convert your stock into cash you can usually find a buyer right away.

A wide range of securities

Not many people realize the exceptional financial stability of the Member Firms of the New York Stock Exchange. In every year since 1920 Members' solvency record has actually been better than that of the nation's banks. Their customers include small investors as well as large. And the wide range of securities with which they are familiar—from bonds to preferred and common stocks—enables them to help you plan investments to fit many different needs. From time to time, be sure to ask them to review your holdings with you.

More than 300 stocks on the New York Stock Exchange have paid a cash dividend every year from 25 to 100 years. We've put their records in a valuable booklet, "DIVIDENDS OVER THE YEARS." Ask a nearby Member Firm for a free copy. Or send the coupon. We'll be glad to mail you one.

OUR COUNTRY

The union of hearts, the union of hands and the flag of our Union for ever—Morris.

Red Boomerang

THE BORIS Pasternak affair affords the world another stirring example of the traps that a totalitarian communism must inevitably build for itself and fall into. Under severe pressure from many sources in the Soviet Union, Pasternak turned down the Nobel prize for literature recently awarded him for his novel, "Doctor Zhivago," a work sharply critical of communism. The Kremlin and its toadies took the award as a brash affront to Russia. It greatly fears any encouragement, either from outside or within the Soviet Union, for writers who may dare to depart from the established line that all is wonderful and serene in that vast country.

BUT THE ABUSE and heat applied to Pasternak only serve to shout to the world how crushing to the human spirit it is to live in a Communist slave society. He has been labeled a traitor. The unions of writers and translators have thrown him out. Probably he will never again have a word published in Russia. (The book in question was published only beyond Soviet borders.) The prospect was strong he might be evicted from his home and left with no place to live. Young Communist critics have called for his departure from Russia to his "capitalist paradise." This would make it easier for Russian leaders embarrassed by his criticisms. They could then portray him as a man who abandoned his country for the "bourgeois" enemy.

SMALL WONDER that Pasternak yielded before this weight and refused the prize. But it will not be lost on the world that no one in literature ever before has rejected this honor, nor that Nazi Germany, arrogantly speaking for two German winners in 1935 and 1939, was the last to spurn any Nobel award before this. What the Pasternak case may dramatically demonstrate for millions still oddly entranced by the Russian myth is this: The capitalist world outside the Communist orbit may not be "paradise." But men are free to say that it is not. And they are free, too, to observe that life outside is far, far better than it is within Khrushchev's pastures.

Too Good

SOMEBODY with a wry sense of humor has suggested that former President Harry S. Truman and Vice President Richard M. Nixon should entertain the National Press Club in Washington with a piano duo. But Mr. Truman already has nixed the idea. An intriguing thought, though. The turnout probably would have rivaled the occasion when Mr. Truman, as vice president, played at the club while actress Lauren Bacall sat atop the piano. When word of that reached wife Bess, it was almost his last recital. But to have these two wide-swinging politicians side by side on a piano bench would have been something. What would they have played? "The Missouri Waltz" or "California Here I Come"? Possibly they could only have agreed on a neutral but lively "Chopsticks." The 1958-59 concert season will be the duller for lack of this one.

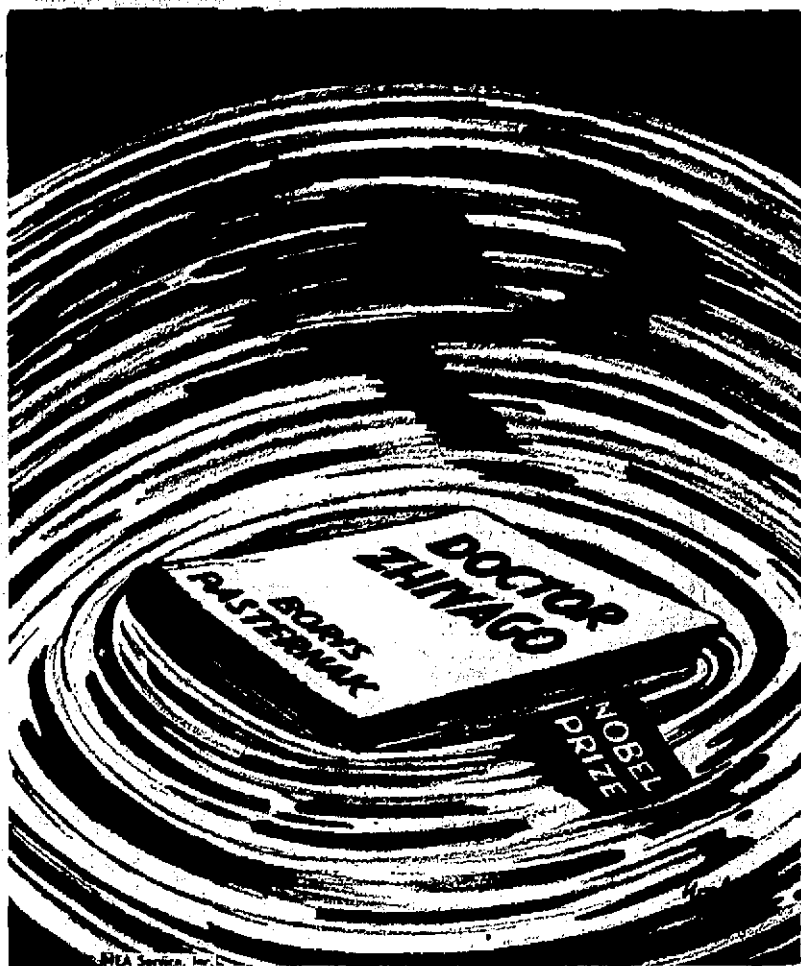

Long-Term

A HARVARD economics professor has suggested a plan whereby universities and colleges could raise tuitions—and thus double faculty salaries and keep the good teachers around—by offering students long-term loans. On the face of it, the plan sounds fine. Schools need more money; so do teachers. This is a way to get it. Still, we can't go completely overboard. And Dr. Seymour E. Harris, chairman of the department of economics at Harvard, is tipping the boat pretty far with his plan. He would give students up to 60 years to pay off their tuition loans. "Long-term" seems a little inadequate to describe such an extension of credit.

THE CITIZENS' committee pushing for Hoover commission federal government reform has disbanded. But future needs for reform may cause it to reform.

THE GENERAL Magazine and Historical Chronicle, founded by Ben Franklin in 1740, has died. That other little journal he started, though, is still pretty lively.

Gloria Finds Good Reason To Mourn

NEW YORK—Gloria Swanson—the one who put the curl in daddy's toes, and still is capable of making him look twice—said she could bawl.

"I could just sit down and cry," she cried. "I don't think anyone could be contented nowadays." She wasn't thinking of her 68 years, or her five ex-husbands, or the fact that her hair is half-white because she's telling it grow in a natural white. It's America she mourns for.

"WE HAVE a way of life that is completely false. Our gods are money gods. We have 'things,' but we don't own them. The American man is worried sick, if you ask me.

"This is riches? The government is taking it away from him, the loan company is taking it away from him, his wife is taking it. There are no values any more.

"If you gave me 20-million dollars, I wouldn't be 20 years old again.

"Not here. Not now."

MISS SWANSON had other ideas to worry about this day. Take national etiquette. "Our manners have gone to hell. No, not gone to hell. They don't exist. It's this stupid, informal attitude we're supposed to have—children don't stand up when old people come into a room. Pregnant women stand up in the bus because the boy who's sitting down paid his fare too. Everybody's equal, eh, Vocil-Ha!

"IT ISN'T THE boys' fault. It's the fault of the American adult, to whom growing older is a disease. He is so coy. He won't tell his age, because in this country there is a ridiculous accent on youth which says that anyone over 25 should go away and die.

"So nobody admits he's old, and nobody respects him for it." "And don't call me 'mother,' Dearie. The name is Thelma."

THE FIRM AND open-minded movie queen of the era before motivational research was not, on this occasion, in a particularly cynical mood. She has always been this way, she said—curious about everything, and disillusioned after investigating. "I scream and yell. I fought Communism back in 1937 and they thought I was a fanatic. I wish sometimes I could shut up and forget things, but I cannot stand injustice.

"YOU CANNOT print a lot of the things I'm mad about. Like the fact that Americans are literally killing themselves with the food they eat. The soil is sick from being covered with sprays and synthetics, and the cattle are sick from the crops they eat, and the people are sick from eating this dead or dying food.

"But this is 'progress,' my dear. For the almighty dollar, man will always think he can do better than nature."

MISS SWANSON who eats only products of "organic"—or natural foods farms—has just returned from Hollywood where she filmed a guest spot for the upcoming, Nov. 2st "Bob Hope Show." Although she still looks more like her birthday was 1920 rather than 1899, she observed that it's the young chicks who are staring with the older male stars. She doesn't approve.

"WHY IS IT that if a woman goes out with a boy," she mused, "it's disgusting? But if a 60-year-old man goes out with a baby-faced blonde, it's all right. Well, it's because women don't run the movie studios, and all the producers are married to girls half their ages.

"I love this wonderful country, but it's so miserable. In Europe, people like you for what you think about and what you are. "Here, the important thing is your bank account, and how old you are."

Some Chemicals Are Help To Food

WASHINGTON—(NEA) — The new food additive amendment to pure food and drug laws presents the chemical and food processing industries with a new public relations problem: It is to make housewives understand what certain chemicals added to prepared foods are all about—good and bad.

When the first pure food law was passed in 1906 the basic philosophy was that any chemicals added to foods—principally to preserve or adulterate them—were bad.

Fifty years of advancing food chemistry have changed that concept considerably. Now it is appreciated that some food additives may be beneficial. Like vitamins.

Discovery and use of vitamins is one of the great all-time advances in food technology. Vitamin additives prevent nutritional deficiency diseases like pellagra, which used to take 3,000 lives a year.

Addition to salt of micro-amounts of iodine—itsself a poison—and wider use of sea foods have all but eliminated goiter.

Calcium and sodium propionate additives in bread prevent mold. In small amounts, these are harmless chemicals found in natural foods like Swiss cheese.

OTHER chemicals may be added safely to prepared mixes to keep ingredients in good condition. Many processed foods now sold in supermarkets would be impossible without additives. Still, they are distrusted by many housewives.

The long chemical names on the packages are confusing. Housewives can't buy them and they're not in the cookbooks.

Sensational magazines have overplayed the dangers of food additives. These have created scares that all additives are dangerous. The public relations job is to kill this fear.

At first the food and chemical industries opposed all moves to bring additives under government regulation. Then the light began to penetrate. Food processors realized that their industry would be operating under a handicap unless some system was devised to clear beneficial additives.

THIS YEAR the Congress, Food and Drug Administration and the food industry all began to give a little. The resulting legislation isn't as stiff as some of the early drafts. But Food and Drug Administrator George P. Larrick considers the new additive law adequate legislation for what it's supposed to do. The problem now is to make it work.

Several classes of additives have already been put under government regulation by previous legislation. They're exempted from the new food additives amendment.

For instance, additives used in meat products have already been tested and approved by the Department of Agriculture meat inspection division.

PESTICIDES—over 100 chemical bug killers which are sprayed or dusted on growing food crops were brought under regulation in 1954. Tolerance limits have been established for the amount of pesticide that may remain on the marketed fruits or vegetables.

without impairing their safety for human consumption.

Coal tar derivative food dyes were brought under legal control in 1938 after nearly 50 years of voluntary testing.

Silbesterol products—hormone-like chemicals used in fattening chickens and speeding the growth of beef cattle—were brought under control in the 1954 pretesting law. Any chemicals added to livestock feeds are considered drugs. The safety test is that only harmless amounts of these chemicals may be found in the flesh as it reaches the butcher's counter or the kitchen.

THE NEW LAW covers both additives put directly in food products and indirect additives like special fats and oils used in greasing cooking utensils or chemicals used in cleaning cooking vats and pipelines in canneries.

The new irradiated foods are also brought under the additive amendment. Tests must show that the amount of radiation needed to preserve food and the process for applying it do not make the product unsafe for humans. This is one of the big new developments in long-time food storage.

Glancing Sideways

NEW YORK — There is a learned man named Francis J. McCune who has the interesting if probably staggering job of being GE's vice-president in charge of that corporation's atomic products division. Right now he has the task of getting communities here and there across the nation to invest $4,000,000 each in village-sized atomic power plants.

These would not only provide such communities with a packaged atomic power source, but, at the same time, accustom the local residents to having an atomic power plant in their midst. And there is where the great big hole is to be found.

Mr. McCune is perfectly simple and clear in his public announcement concerning these packaged plants. He says that he and GE envision a nation using only atomic electric power for home consumption—in time. Meanwhile, "fears and prejudices must be overcome before nuclear energy can become a household term."

ALL RIGHT, let's be equally simple and clear. Whose fault is it that 13 years after Hiroshima we, as a people, still have recognizable fears and prejudices? You know and I know: The Atomic Energy Commission, which has done a magnificent job in every germane way except the obvious one of educating and informing the American people in what is irresistibly the Atomic Age.

It is here, it will become even more here in less than 50 years—what's more, atomic energy and atomic medicine will be household words. It could be foreseen. It was obvious from the beginning that weaponizing was only a facet of nuclear usage.

THERE SHOULD have been right from the start a planned, intelligent, uncomplicated and dreadfully clear program of education. A program so simple, indeed, that even uneducated persons in remote areas would know how useful to man is nuclear energy and how groovingly safe.

It is not enough to blast the aid and the waters at Nevada and in the Pacific in a series of military weapon tests. It is not enough to allot isotopes to hospitals and clinics. Joseph E. Bastian Citizens, the man who never saw a sidewalk in his life, also has to be taken into account—and informed—also the progress of Atomic Energy as a useful tool becomes slowed, hindered, and clogged with ignorant fears.

LET'S HAVE no nonsense here, now, about this reporter's taking an angry stand against the AEC. Quite the opposite: I think it has done a fine job, has kept us either ahead or, at least, abreast of our enemies, has done a sound job of protecting security.

I have not always admired its succeeding chairmen, feeling in at least one case that the chairman did a woeful job in taking an arrogant stand against telling the public anything.

It was not at all astonishing that the rising indignation among the members of Congress forced him ultimately to resign. He annoyed everyone with whom he had to deal in Congress and annoyed the public even more. But the AEC as a unit, doing a job, is beyond reproach. In all ways save that of taking time to educate the American people.

THIS WAS the great big hole. This was the one from which all involved have shied and twitched. There must be a way—indeed, there has to be a way—to bring atomic information to the people. If it is not done, the whole course of growth in the uses of peacetime nuclear energy for the common good is stalled and it stumbles. Should a community fear the presence of a plant turning out cheap electricity in a safe way? Of course not. But communities do. And they do because the AEC has not created, implemented and used an information department.

It is too much to ask that this mounting vital area of modern science be made comprehensible to the general public which, willy-nilly, will have to live with it with comprehension, would come the dissipation of fear and prejudice. Surely, if General Electric takes note that fear and prejudice exist, they exist painfully.

Polish Author Real Hero

Editor's Note: Russia's Boris Pasternak won a Nobel Prize for a novel condemning some facts of Communism and earned the condemnation of the Soviet government. What of the other authors laboring behind the Iron Curtain—men of truth whose voices are muted by Communist authoritarianism? In the following dispatch, UPI tells the story of a youthful Polish writer who dared to speak without prejudice, and had to seek asylum in the West. It is based on his first interview.

BERLIN—The names of Marek Hlasko's books tell his story of yearning for truth and final desperation—"Eight Day of the Week," "Cemeteries," "Next to Paradise."

Hlasko is a Polish author. His story is the tragic one of a true and admirable "beat generation." He is an "angry young man" with a special right to be angry.

THERE WAS A TIME not long ago when liberalism won over Communism in Poland—that brief holiday of freedom after Khrushchev's renunciation of Stalin and before Hungary. Hlasko's books were published then.

He, like Boris Pasternak, in Russia, became overnight a symbol of the "new spirit" behind the Iron Curtain. Poland's highest literary prize went to Hlasko.

THE SPIRIT died quickly when the Kremlin's bosses moved to stem a public tide. Hlasko the hero became Hlasko the damned. He had been given special permission to travel in Western Europe and then was summoned home summarily. He chose asylum here Oct. 8.

There are various categories of heroism," said Hlasko when he heard of Pasternak's acceptance of the Nobel Prize. "But that of the Pasternak is of the highest."

Pasternak later rejected the prize, but he still was criticized.

THERE IS courage in Hlasko, too, when he tells his interviewers:

"There are two things I dislike most. One is boredom and the other is the Soviet Union."

He was speaking to newsmen for the first time since choosing early in October to reject the Polish government's call to come home, where he faced certain censorship and possibly a fate far worse.

TODAY HE describes himself as a patriotic Pole who is deeply sorry he was forced to emigrate.

"Poland has no political and no economic chance," he said. "She lives in a state of occupation."

"It was exciting to live in Poland the last few years. There was tension all the time. You would walk into a restaurant and somebody would come up and say 'Do you know Comrade B has been arrested? We only talked to him last night.'"

HLASKO CAN be compared to the "angry young men" only because he views the past with bitterness and the future with uncertainty.

His plans range from studying film directing at New York's famed "Actors Studio" to tending bar in Israel.

Reporter's Notebook

NEW YORK — What Hollywood needs, says producer Jerry Wald, is a reformation plan to grow new stars.

"The independent producers are chopping down the trees," he remarked, "but they aren't doing any planting. They are greedy. They grab a big buck and move on."

Wald, now under a five-year, $10-million deal with 20th Century-Fox, feels that a studio's star reformation project is beginning to pay off.

"IN ANOTHER two years it should be self-sufficient. We'll have a good stock of young, well-groomed actors. We have about 50 players under contract—and it takes guts in the industry today to have a regular payroll."

"It costs considerably more to grow movie stars than it does to raise Christmas trees."

"These seedlings need all kinds of help—from special training to wardrobes," said Wald. "It costs a minimum of $100,000 for each personality you sign, whether eventually you keep him or let him go."

Although not exactly an enemy of the star system, the producer feels the presence of stars is no sure guarantee of success for a picture. To him the most important thing is still the story.

"A star without a good story is like a drowning man without a life preserver," he observed. "The most important figures in Hollywood aren't the 12 biggest stars. I'd say the 12 best screenwriters are more important."

FILM STAR planting is a hazardous form of lumbering.

"The mortality rate is high," acknowledged Wald. "Only about one in 25 pans out."

"But there is no real shortage of talent. There is a shortage of talent to recognize a talent."

"It's like mining rough ore. Every studio has made its mistakes. No one is infallible."

"Warner's dropped Clark Gable. Fox dropped Grace Kelly. MGM dropped Fred Astaire."

"Raoul Walsh once brought a guy named Rock Hudson around to see me. His name amused me, but I couldn't use him. The same with James Dean. He stood about 5 feet 4. I must confess I couldn't figure what to do with him."

"The whole thing is pretty much like playing a slot machine. Before you can win you have to put in the coin."

MADRID — I don't want to administer any shocks that my constituents may not be conditioned to absorb, but there is a certain amount of drinking on the part of U. S. Government officials stationed in Spain.

In fact, if some of these transplanted public servants do not exercise eternal vigilance, they are apt to get their professional life hopelessly entangled with their social, and never be quite sure whether they are drinking during working hours or working during drinking hours.

Many confess brokenly that they contracted the liquor habit from drinking with junketing Congressmen to whom they have been assigned for varying periods. They bicker that, after a few days and nights with a Congressional delegation using counterpart funds, they just can't brave the withdrawal pains of tapering off, particularly as they know another delegation will be coming along shortly and they'll have to taper on again.

I AM PROUD to report, however, that today I ran into one brave American who has shattered the foul shackles.

I went to the American Embassy because you can never tell with our embassies abroad but what they might have news from home. I wanted to know if it was true that Averell Harriman was running against Carmine DeSapio.

No one seemed to know anything about this, although a fellow in an elevator said he had heard there was a trend either away from, or toward, the Republican Party, but he wished I wouldn't mention it to Ambassador John Davis Lodge because the Ambassador worries about Republicans, even at this distance.

The U. S. Embassy is a bright new building that looks as if it might have been designed for the administrative offices of a pickle factory. Ambassador Lodge was concerned about it at first. He was afraid the Spaniards might growl politely that it clashed with the lovely old surrounding architecture. His fears were assuaged when the Jesuits erected a completely functional administrative building next door and the Good Fathers took to calling it the "Loyola Hilton."

In the office of Embassy Press Chief Owen R. Hutchinson, I ran into an old sidekick, Rex Smith, who has just pulled the press agent switch of the year. Mr. Smith made so much money as publicity head of an airline that he was able to retire and go back to being a newspaperman.

It was getting late and Press Chief Hutchinson hinted delicately that we blow by remarking that it was long past quitting time. He volunteered to drive us to our hotel. Naturally, when we got there, we invited him in for a drink.

His reply, I submit, is one that should be deathless. It sums up the whole situation created by the terrible drinking demands that are made upon our emissaries abroad.

Mr. Hutchinson declared that, under no circumstances, would he accept our invitation to a drink. We demanded to know why he was scornful of our hospitality.

"Because," he replied uncompromisingly. "I don't have to drink now. I'm not on duty."

THE BULLFIGHTING season was over, but there were still some corridas at small rings out in the country at the Spanish equivalent of county fairs. We went to one in Guadalajara, a couple of hours from Madrid by bus.

Although it was an out-of-the-way show, the star was Luis Miguel Dominguez, one of the world's best-known matadors, whose name was linked romantically with Ava Gardner until he married another lady, Miss Gardner was present—but so was Senora Dominguez.

The movie star hung on every move of the bullfighter and appeared close to swooning when the bull hurled Dominguez twenty feet. It developed, however, that the bull had struck with the side of a horn, not the point.

But neither then, nor subsequently, did Luis Miguel give Ava a thing, although he had a nice assortment of bulls' ears and tails to distribute.

Amendments Get Few Votes

Only a few more than 10 per cent of the Allegany County voters who went to the polls yesterday bothered to vote on the three constitutional amendments on the ballot and those who did rejected the first amendment.

More than 25,000 countians balloted but fewer than 3,000 of them registered their views on the amendments.

The one they opposed would have allowed the Mayor and City Council of Baltimore to increase or decrease the salary of any appointed public officer. They favored the one which specifies the manner in which a state's attorney shall be appointed when a vacancy occurred. Also backed was the third amendment, which would abolish the position of state librarian.

The votes:

Byrd, Randolph Lead W. Va. Demos' Victory

By J. RICHARD TOREN
United Press International
CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—Robert C. Byrd and Jennings Randolph led West Virginia Democrats to their biggest statewide victory in 22 years in Tuesday's election with Byrd piling up the largest statewide majority since the heyday of Matthew Neely.

Byrd, 40-year-old third-term congressman from Sophia, Raleigh County, won a six-year Senate term by whipping Republican Chapman Revercomb by nearly 120,000 votes.

Randolph also ousted an incumbent Republican, John D. Hoblitzell Jr., in a race for Neely's unexpired two-year term, but his third in five tries for the Senate. First elected in 1942 when he defeated Neely in an upset, the Charleston attorney was defeated in 1948 and 1952 before winning an unexpired two-year term two years ago.

Hoblitzell, 45 and a banker at Ravenswood, was GOP state chairman at the time of his appointment to the Senate last January to fill the vacancy caused by Neely's death. He also was making his first bid for statewide office and only his second political race.

Revercomb received majorities in only 11 of the state's 55 counties while Hoblitzell carried the same 11 plus Marshall and Wood Counties.

Moore, in defeating Mollohan, became the first Republican in more than 20 years to win successive terms to Congress from the 1st District. The campaign was marked by Mollohan's charge, made to the FBI, that he had been the target of anonymously printed campaign circulars.

With all but 12 of the 422 precincts in the district tabulated, Moore led 53,748 to 44,963. Mollohan, of Fairmont, had defeated Moore in 1954 before Moore edged C. Lee Spillers of Wheeling by less than 1,000 votes in 1956 while Mollohan was running for governor.

Hechler Ousts Neal
Winner in the close 4th District race was former Marshall College political science teacher and Democratic presidential aide Ken Hechler, author of the recent book "The Bridge at Remagen." He is a New Yorker who moved to West Virginia less than two years ago. Returns from 445 of 92 per cent of the district's 481 precincts gave Hechler 57,273 votes to Neal's 54,289. Neal won the seat in 1954, was defeated in 1954 and won a second term in 1956—all in contests with M. G. Burnside.

Winners by overwhelming margins were Democratic House members Harley O. Staggers of Keyser and Cleveland M. Bailey of Clarksburg. Staggers won his sixth term over Ward Keesecker of Berkeley Springs by a better

Woman Sues For Damages

A $3,000 damage suit growing out of a claim against the estate of the late Loren H. Chaney was filed Monday in Allegany County Circuit Court by Wanda Lee Sanders, RD 1, Valley Road.

The plaintiff, through Attorney Paul W. Barnett, brought the suit against Courtney E. Chaney, 421 Wenpe Drive, and Grace M. Wolring, 204 Fulton Street, co-administrators of the estate of Loren H. Chaney.

The woman contended that Loren H. Chaney moved into her home on September 4, 1955, and at his request she provided his food, shelter, board and medical care from September 4, 1955, until February 14, 1956, except for two intervals. One was from June 3, 1956, until August 6, 1956, and the other from May 30, 1957, until July 14, 1957.

She said that Mr. Chaney made repeated promises to pay her but was struck by his final illness before the payment could be made.

Deremer was employed in the Textile Manufacturing Section in 1928 and was promoted to the Amcelle staff in 1934. Over the years, he has held supervisory positions in virtually all of the Textile departments. From 1949 to 1953, he was a supervisor of the position of supervisor in the Production Planning Department of Textile, and in 1953 when Production Planning became an independent section, he was named supervisor.

He attended local public schools and has taken various supplementary night school and correspondence courses.

His outside activities include membership in various Masonic bodies, Civil Defense organizations, lay delegate and vice president of the Men's Organization of the First Methodist Church, and past president of the East Side Parent-Teacher Association. He and his family reside at 629 Shade's Lane.

Sirockman, assistant superintendent of Extrusion, will become superintendent of extrusion and textile operations at the Edmonton, Alberta, plant of a Celanese affiliate. He will assume his new duties on December 1. A graduate of West Virginia University, where he majored in chemical engineering, Sirockman joined the Amcelle Quality Control staff in May 1953 and held the position of Senior Quality Control Engineer from July 1956 until his recent promotion to assistant superintendent of Extrusion. Prior to his Amcelle experience, he had worked for the Research and Development Division of Pittsburgh Consolidation Coal Company.

He is a veteran of World War II, having served with the rank of first lieutenant in the Infantry. He is a member of the American Society for Quality Control and was instructor in Industrial Science for the Celanese Pre-Supervisory Training Course offered under the Allegany County Education Program.

He is married, the father of two sons and resides at Carrick Place, LaVale.

Montgomery Demo Winner Of Circuit Judge Contest

ROCKVILLE, Md. (AP)—James H. Pugh, Democrat and former State's Attorney for Montgomery County, won the only circuit judgeship contested in yesterday's general election.

He defeated Judge John R. Reeves of Bethesda, Republican and former Maryland secretary of state, who had served on the Montgomery County bench for the past two years by appointment of Gov. McKeldin.

The term is for 15 years.

Other Maryland judges standing for reelection, or for terms of their own if recent appointees, had won nomination by both parties in the primary last May.

Reeves won the Republican nomination but Pugh defeated him on the Democratic ballot in the primary, carrying the contest into the general election.

Pugh has practiced law for 26 years and was State's attorney for Montgomery from 1934-39.

HARLAN M. CALHOUN

Calhoun Wins West Virginia Tribunal Post

One Of Two Demos Elected To Seats On Supreme Court

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—Two new judges will sit on West Virginia's five-member Supreme Court before the end of the month.

Democrats Thornton G. Berry of Welch and Harlan M. Calhoun of Moorefield won unexpired terms on the high court in general election balloting Tuesday.

Both defeated Republican opponents by more than 110,000 votes and will assume office as soon as the returns are certified.

Berry, a former McDowell County Circuit Judge, defeated Max DeBerry, judge of the state's 3rd judicial circuit, to win a six-year unexpired term. He will replace Democrat Judge Henry L. Ducker of Huntington who he defeated in the August primary for the nomination.

Ducker received an interim appointment to the bench nearly two years ago following the resignation of the late Judge William T. Lovins.

Calhoun, now judge of the 22nd judicial circuit, won over incumbent Republican appointee Robert Donley, Morgantown attorney and part-time law professor at West Virginia University, in winning the two-year unexpired term of the late Judge James B. Riley.

His election gave the Eastern Panhandle section of the state its first representation of the high court for many years.

Unofficial returns from 2,583 of West Virginia's 2,806 precincts gave these vote totals: Berry 350,025, DeBerry 238,820; Calhoun 346,967, Donley 238,573.

Berry was unsuccessful in 1956 in a bid to win Democratic nomination for a 12-year term. Calhoun never sought a state-wide office post prior to this year.

Both men will assume their seats when official returns of the election are certified. That is expected before the end of the month, and probably within two weeks.

Donley was the first Republican to sit on the court in over 20 years. He was appointed last July, shortly after the death of Judge Riley.

Calhoun carried 44 counties in winning his seat, losing only in Doddridge, Grant, Jackson, Lewis, Mason, Morgan, Ohio, Preston, Roane, Tyler and Upshur. Berry carried only 41 counties, losing in the same 11 as Calhoun and also in Pleasant, Ritchie and Wirt.

Lack Of Confidence In GOP Displayed

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Republicans had better begin examining themselves.

Their defeat by the Democrats Tuesday for control of Congress—the third time in a row—shows a clear lack of voter confidence in the party.

It shows most distinctly in the sharp choice the voters have made among President Eisenhower, his party and the Democrats.

Eisenhower was elected overwhelmingly in 1952 and 1956. But in the three congressional races since Eisenhower took office, the voters have given the Democrats control of the legislative branch.

Tuesday's beating forces the Republicans to face this gloomy question: "Unless we can somehow regain voter confidence, how can we possibly hope to win the presidential and congressional elections in 1960?"

No Republican in sight, from Eisenhower down, seems to have the answer.

Despite all the campaign urging by Eisenhower and Vice President Nixon—some of it pretty shrill—the voters still put their faith in the Democrats to run Congress.

This sometimes gets difficult to understand since both parties are basically conservative except that the Republicans, or many of them, seem even more so.

One conclusion seems fair: That the voters definitely think the Democrats more truly represent their views and interests, are more responsive to their needs, and in these days of vast social changes are more progressive.

That can explain to some extent why the voters elected Eisenhower while defeating his party in Congress, for he has tried to follow a moderately progressive line in his administration.

But neither he nor his party can claim that a majority of congressional Republicans could, or perhaps would want to, be called Eisenhower Republicans.

It seems difficult to think that either Eisenhower or Nixon can give their party more political sex appeal by 1960.

Both men have had six years in which to lead their party down a road that pleased the voters. They couldn't do it.

There's no reason to believe the two men can do better these next two years.

Therefore, the Republicans as a party seem to face this problem: 1. Either change their views to conform more to what appears to be the voters' desires, or— 2. Just sit to see whether the Democrats will make such a mess of things that the voters demand a change. That looks like wishful thinking.

Since Eisenhower has adhered to election campaigns—pretty much to an above-the-strife political attitude, it can hardly be expected he will try very hard in his last two years to reshape the party.

Nixon has tried different tactics. He's been a very active political partisan. But he may have to concern himself greatly with his own political fortunes these next two years.

The victory of millionaire Nelson Rockefeller in the New York governor's race gave Nixon a sturdy political competitor for the Republican presidential nomination in 1960. The result of this new competition may be a change in Nixon's tactics.

Election Day Fight Ends In Shootings

Part-Time Preacher Held After One Man Died, Other Wounded

WAYNE, W. Va. (UPI)—A part-time preacher was jailed here today for the fatal shooting of one man and the wounding of another in what was reported to be an election day political argument.

The Wayne County sheriff's office said no charges had been filed against Tom Messer, 49, of the Jenny Creek area 38 miles south of here, pending further investigation.

The sheriff's office said Messer killed Arlan Marcum, father of 11 children, with three shots in the chest, and wounded Basil Parsley while trying to break up the fight. Parsley, struck by a single bullet, was reported in serious condition at a Williamson hospital.

The argument and shootings occurred late Tuesday outside the Marcum precinct near the Mingo County line.

Following the incident, Messer went to a Huntington hospital for treatment of cuts and bruises suffered in the altercation. He was brought to the county jail here at 3:30 a.m. today.

Former Delaware Governor Defeated In Senate Try

WILMINGTON, Del. (AP)—U. S. Sen. John J. Williams won election to a third term yesterday over former Democratic Gov. Elbert B. Carvel.

Final returns from the state's 336 precincts gave the 64-year-old feed merchant 74,317 votes to 67,507 for Carvel.

In the race for the Diamond State's lone congressional seat, however, Democrat Harless G. McDowell upset Republican incumbent Harry G. Haskell. Haskell had unseated McDowell two years ago. The final vote was 71,754 to 68,989.

In another statewide contest, Republican Januar D. Bove defeated Democrat Michael A. Poppilli, for attorney general, 70,602 to 69,862 in a close contest.

The Democrats took the other three state offices.

Mrs. Belle Everett defeated incumbent State treasurer Mrs. Vera G. Davis. Ernest Killen ousted incumbent State auditor Dale Wheatley and State Insurance Commissioner Harry Smith.

West Virginia Demos Add To Senate Margin

Capture One More Seat From GOP, May Win Another

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—Democrats were assured today of at least one additional seat in the West Virginia Senate and there was a possibility their 21-11 margin of the last session might be increased by two.

In the 4th District, there was a nip and tuck race between incumbent Republican appointee Sen. Vernon McCoy (R-Jackson) and his fellow townsman from Ravenswood, Democrat Paul R. Moore.

With all but 16 precincts of the district's 167 counted, Moore held a slight 121 vote edge in unofficial tabulations. Vote totals showed Moore at 15,096 and McCoy at 14,925.

McCoy was appointed in 1957 to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of Sen. Brad Sayre (R-Jackson).

Another appointive incumbent, Sen. Bernard Sammons (R-Wayne) in the 5th District went down in defeat in his bid for election to the unexpired two-years of the term of Hatfield Brubeck, who resigned a year ago.

Winning the seat was Democrat C. H. (Jackie) McKown of Wayne, a former senator who had served four consecutive terms before losing to Brubeck in the 1956 election.

Three Republican incumbents retained their seats. Included in the group was Senate minority leader John Carlgan (R-Marshal) in the 2nd District who returns for his third term. Sen. Joe Handlan (R-Wood) won election in the 3rd District in his first bid for post to which he was appointed in 1957 when Sen. Andy Swearingen resigned to become Parkersburg postmaster.

Veteran Republican Dayton R. Stemple, a former minority leader, was elected to his fourth consecutive term in the 15th District.

Carlgan defeated former delegate Edward C. Pasillong; Handlan beat fellow townsman George Barnell of Parkersburg and Stemple bested Lloyd L. Shriver of Grafton.

Eight incumbent Democrats, including Senate Majority Leader Clarence Martin (D-Berkeley), retained their seats. Returning were Sens. Lyle Smith (D-Cabell) in the 5th District, Glenn Taylor (D-Mingo) in the 6th, Lloyd Jackson (D-Lincoln) 7th, Jack Nuckols (D-Raleigh) 9th, O. Roy Parker (D-Monroe) 10th, William N. Jasper (D-Greenbrier) 11th, Walter A. Holden (D-Harrison) 13th, and Martin in the 16th.

For Taylor and Jackson it was their fourth consecutive terms. For Martin and Holden it was their third terms, while for Smith, Nuckols, Parker, and Jasper it was their second, though Nuckols served two years of an unexpired term prior to winning the seat in 1954.

In four races where Democratic senators stepped down, fellow party members will succeed them. In the 1st District Wheeling attorney Arch Riley, a former member of the House, defeated Del. Chet Hubbard (R-Ohio) for the seat vacated by Sen. Frank Campbell (D-Ohio). In the 8th District, veteran Kanawha County Del. J. Horner Davis won over Elizabeth V. Hallahan, former deputy public institutions commissioner in a bid to fill the seat vacated by Sen. A. Carl Cargy (D-Kanawha).

In the 14th District Del. William A. Moreland (D-Monongalia) defeated Del. John Crynock (R-Monongalia) for the seat held by the late Sen. Don Marchand who announced his retirement before his death last spring.

In the 12th District Democrat Carl Gainer, Richwood businessman, won over Dave J. Teter of Elkins. Gainer had defeated incumbent Sen. John Chenoweth (D-Randolph) in the primary.

Nine Democratic and six Republican members of the senate were not involved in this year's election.

Rep. Staggers Winner In Mineral County Vote

Democrats yesterday swept most of the offices in Mineral County, a normally strong GOP stronghold, with 7,200 votes cast. Harley O. Staggers, a native of the county and resident of Keyser, seeking re-election to Congress, easily led the ticket with 4625 votes as his GOP opponent, Dr. Ward W. Keeseecker of Berkeley Springs, trailed with 2380.

Rep. Staggers set the pace as the Democrats carried six of the nine major contests in the county. Judge Harlan Calhoun of Moorefield, seeking election to the West Virginia Supreme Court of Appeals, defeated his Republican opponent, Robert T. Donley of Morgantown, by 740 votes.

Jennings Randolph of Elkins, a former Congressman, polled 2784 while his GOP opponent, John D. Hoblitzell Jr. of Ravenswood, trailed with 3225 for an unexpired term in the U. S. Senate.

The county favored Republicans John H. Bane for county commissioner; Joseph William Kessel for the House of Delegates, and Helen Holt for secretary of state. All else went Democratic.

Hazelwood Low Bidder On Job

The George F. Hazelwood Company of this city yesterday submitted the low bid for the construction of a new edifice for St. Luke's Lutheran Church, according to Rev. William H. Snyder, pastor.

Negotiations between church leaders and the company will continue in an effort to get the cost in line with the church budget. Rev. Mr. Snyder said that a congregational meeting will be held, probably before the middle of November, to act on acceptance of the revised bid.

Three other bids, two of them from local contractors, also were received yesterday. The only bidder on the electrical contract was the Sterling Electric Company.

Plans and specifications for the new church, to be built in the 1600 block Frederick Street near the city limits, were prepared by T. Norman Mansell, Philadelphia, Pa., architect.

Demos Break GOP County Stranglehold

Two Named To Board Positions

Another Pair Win Delegate Jobs From District

"Miracles do happen."

That was the reaction of many Allegany countians to yesterday's general election which saw the Democrats take over control of the county board of commissioners and capture two seats in the House of Delegates.

John T. Mason of Cresaptown led the Democrats in taking two county commissioner posts by polling 12,171 votes. John J. Rowan, LaVale, polled 10,801 votes. Mason and Rowan will make up the majority on the board.

William A. Wilson, a Republican, polled 11,605 votes to retain his post, to which he was appointed last December when William H. Lemmert resigned.

Walsh Leads State

William Walsh, local attorney, and a son of William C. Walsh, former attorney general of Maryland, led the entire list of candidates for House of Delegates by polling 12,299 votes.

The other Democrat elected to the House of Delegates was Thomas F. Conlon Jr., local insurance firm executive, who came in fifth in the race with 10,872 votes. He and Walsh are the first Democrats elected to the House of Delegates since 1917 when John G. Shearer was named. Conlon is a son of former Cumberland mayor Thomas F. Conlon Sr. and present postmaster here.

No one at the Court House could remember hearing of two Democrats being elected to the county board of commissioners and holding a majority. They say if it happened it was way back in the 1800s.

Reed Holds Second

Four Republicans elected to the House of Delegates were Lester B. Reed, second with 11,147 votes; Fred B. Driscoll, third with 11,050; Noel Speir Cook, fourth with 10,963 ballots and Estel C. Kelley, sixth with 10,318 votes.

Veteran Sheriff Edward R. Muir won a victory over Democrat Howard P. Loughrie by a vote of 11,906 to 10,420. Unofficial results of contested county contests, with all polling places in.

"THEY SAID IT COULDN'T BE DONE"—But it was, as Allegany Countians yesterday elected in a history-making vote two Democratic delegates and two Democratic county commissioners. Above, at party campaign headquarters in the Algonquin Hotel last night, three of the four victorious candidates are shown as they received congratulations from jubilant supporters of both parties. Left to right are John J. Rowan, elected county commissioner; William Walsh and Thomas F. Conlon Jr., the new Democratic delegates. John Tucker Mason, who led the county commissioner ticket, was not present.

WATCHING THE RETURNS—These three Republican candidates for county offices watched carefully as the returns poured in to GOP headquarters on North Liberty Street last night, with the trend established early for several Democratic office seekers. At left is Fred B. Driscoll, incumbent delegate who was one of four Republicans elected; in center is Del. Thomas N. Berry, delegate appointee who was defeated in his initial bid, and at right, William A. Wilson, county commissioner appointee who was successful in his attempt for election to the county board. Four GOP candidates were defeated in the unusual election.

Beall Alone Halts Demo Vote Sweep

Senator Only GOP Candidate Surviving Landslide In State

By LOUIS G. PANOS

BALTIMORE, Nov. 5 (AP) — Maryland Democrats engineered their biggest landslide in 18 years yesterday, but they failed to bury Republican Sen. J. Glenn Beall.

As Democratic candidates swept the governorship for the first time since 1950 and all seven House seats for the first time since 1940, Beall won re-election by defeating Democrat Thomas D'Alessandro his first defeat in 24 political contests.

J. Millard Tawes, the mild-mannered State comptroller who had spent most of his 64 years in the political shadows, emerged as the new governor by defeating Republican James P. S. Devereux, the former Marine general who left his seat in Congress to try for bigger game.

Reverses In Assembly

Without the coattails of Republican Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin—ineligible for a third straight term—clinging to Republicans also suffered startling reverses in the General Assembly.

"The Democrats upped their margin from 21-8 to 26-3 in the State Senate and from 88-25 to 116-7 in the House of Delegates.

As expected, they also gave Louis L. Goldstein a big margin over Republican John A. Derr for State comptroller and re-elected Atty. Gen. C. Ferdinand Sybert over Republican Robert A. Wallace.

For comptroller, all 1,340 polling places gave Goldstein 419,838 and Derr 279,414.

For attorney general Sybert had 453,517 and Wallace 230,805. But the 800,000 to 300,000 margin they held in registered voters was not reflected in the senatorial race which ended with Beall's conquest of D'Alessandro, serving his third term as mayor of Baltimore.

In one of the day's biggest surprises, Republican Edward T. Miller failed in his bid for a seventh straight term from the First (Eastern Shore) Congressional District. He lost to Thomas F. Johnson, international lawyer and former Democratic State senator from rural Worcester County.

Other winners in the congressional races were: Democrat Daniel B. Brewster, two-term member of the House of Delegates, who defeated Republican J. Pile Symington Jr. for the Second District seat vacated by Devereux.

Edward A. Garmatz, who won a sixth straight term over Republican Harry Kemper in the all-Baltimore City Third District.

Democrat George H. Fallon, who was elected for the eighth consecutive time by defeating Republican Louis W. Collier in the all-city Fourth District.

Lankford Wins

Democrat Richard E. Lankford, who bested Republican Robert E. Ennis for a third straight term in the Southern Maryland, Fifth District seat.

Democrat John R. Foley, Washington labor lawyer, who made good in his second try to unseat Republican DeWitt S. Hyde in the Sixth (Western Maryland) District.

Democrat Samuel N. Friedel, who easily beat Miss Elizabeth Brown, a Republican, for a fourth straight term in the all-city Seventh District.

Returns from all the state's 1,340 polling places gave 379,295 votes to Beall, who had campaigned as a firm supporter of President Eisenhower's legislative program, to 365,934 for D'Alessandro. (Continued on Page 22)

Democrats Tighten Grip On Legislature

Party Lines Crossed In County Vote

Allegany County's voters, predominantly Republican, crossed party lines in yesterday's balloting for both county and state offices.

On the state ticket, voters favored three Republicans and two Democrats. Republicans Sen. J. Glenn Beall (R), 15,045; D'Alessandro, 9,028. Governor: Tawes (D), 13,139; Devereux, 9,670.

Unofficial results in the contests for state offices are as follows:

U. S. Senator: Beall (R), 15,045; D'Alessandro, 9,028.
Governor: Tawes (D), 13,139; Devereux, 9,670.
Attorney General: Sybert (D), 10,363; Wallace, 9,781.
Comptroller: Derr (R), 10,116; Goldstein, 9,844.
Congress: Hyde (R), 11,680; Foley, 11,024.
Court of Appeals: Prescott, 1,629.

Seven Amcelle Men Honored

Gold watches were presented recently to seven employees of the Celanese Corporation of America who have been working at the Amcelle plant for 25 years.

They are Arthur E. Borter, Charles E. Graim, Albert M. Kalbaugh, James W. Markwood, Max A. Shaffer and Edward R. Walker, of the Engineering Department; and Samuel S. Smith of the Cellulose Compound Manufacturing unit.

Foley First 6th District Winner In 16-Year Span

Congressman-elect John R. Foley is the first Democrat to represent the Sixth District in 16 years.

Not since Mrs. Katherine E. Byron was elected in 1941 to fill the vacancy created by the death of her husband, William D. Byron, has there been a Democrat in Sixth District congressionalman. Mrs. Byron did not seek election in 1942, and Sen. J. Glenn Beall, who won his second term in the U. S. Senate yesterday, was elected to the first of his five-two-year terms.

After Beall came Dewitt S. Hyde who was defeated by Foley yesterday by a margin of 3,166 votes, according to complete but unofficial returns.

The personable Foley, a labor lawyer whose home county is Montgomery, carried two of the five counties in his district and compiled 78,444 votes to 73,278 for Hyde in reversing the result of the 1956 congressional contest. He was victorious in Montgom-

COUNTY WINNER — J. Tucker Mason, Democrat, polled 11,971 votes to lead the victors in the Allegany County Commissioner race yesterday.

GOP Has Only 3 Senators, 7 Delegates In Assembly

By GEORGE BOWEN

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Democrats will be riding high, wide and handsome in the Maryland Legislature for the next four years.

The Republicans were left with only a voice crying in the wilderness after Tuesday's election rout that left them with only 3 of 26 state senators and 7 of 123 delegates.

The Republicans had eight seats in the Senate and 25 in the House the past four years, so their net loss in the General Assembly was 23.

Allegany County represented the only Republican stronghold against the Democratic avalanche. Its Republican blind senator, Charles M. See, was elected without opposition to the seat to which he was appointed in 1955.

Allegany also will supply four of the GOP delegates. But even that represents a loss of two.

The only other Republican of five senators seeking to return to succeed was Harry T. Phoebus of Somerset. He beat back a strong challenge by Lloyd Simpkins, 4,181 to 3,927.

The GOP managed to take a Senate seat away from the Democrats. It was accomplished by Edward T. Hall, a weekly newspaper editor, when he defeated H. Gordon Trueman in Calvert County. The former holder was Louis Goldstein who won election as comptroller.

The Democrats took over from former Senate Republicans in the Fourth District of Baltimore City, Carroll, Charles, Frederick, Garrett, and Washington counties.

The Fourth District victory was one for Jack Pollack, its Democratic leader. He was challenged with an all-Negro ticket, one of them the incumbent Republican senator, Harry A. Cole.

Cole was ousted by another member of his race backed by Pollack, J. Alvin Jones. The Pollack ticket of six delegates also was triumphant and the losers included another Republican incumbent, Emory R. Cole.

The entire city delegation of 36, in fact, will be Democratic. Two others held by the Republicans in the Third District went by the boards.

Four Hard Hit

The Democratic pile driver descended particularly hard on the counties of Carroll, Frederick, Garrett and Washington.

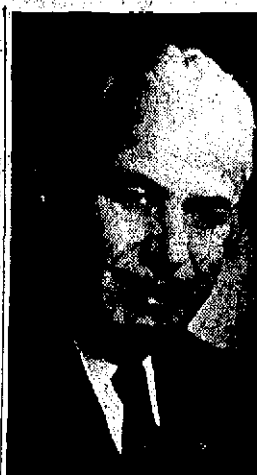

It knocked out a Republican senator and three delegates in Carroll including C. Ray Barnes who had been in the House since 1926, a senator and two delegates in Frederick and Garrett, and three delegates in Washington.

Washington County will have all six delegates and senator from the same party for the first time in history.

In addition to the four delegates from Allegany, the Republicans in the House will be one each from Carroll, Garrett, and Frederick. Those from Frederick and Garrett will be first termers.

The Democrats in Montgomery and Wicomico counties also each got rid of one GOP delegate of the past.

STATE WINNER—U. S. Senator J. Glenn Beall, won re-election to the Senate yesterday in a close race which found the Sixth District furnishing him his victory margin.

Greyhound Bus Service Stops In District

Cumberland has had no bus service by Greyhound Lines today after drivers at Washington and Pittsburgh staged a premature walkout.

The strike came as the company and Amalgamated Association of Street, Electric Railways and Motor Coach Employees still were negotiating in Cleveland on a new wage contract for the 3,700 employees of the Eastern Division.

Negotiations were to resume today. The last bus out of Cumberland left here at 7 a. m. for Pittsburgh. A company spokesman said he believed a settlement of the issues would be reached soon.

Grant County Holds Firm To Republican Balloting

PETERSBURG—Traditionally, Grant County voters went to the polls yesterday, did little or no switching and threw their support to Republican candidates.

Rep. Harley O. Staggers, Keyser Democrat, polled the most votes of any member of his party when he received 923 to 1,834 for his opponent, Dr. Ward W. Keesecker of Berkeley Springs.

Judge Harlan M. Calhoun, Democrat, from neighboring Hardy County polled only 783 votes to 1,819 for his opponent, Robert T. Donley, for the unexpired two-year term on the Supreme Court of Appeals.

Complete and unofficial returns show Sen. Chapman Revercomb polling 2,082 votes to Robert C. Byrd's 676, for the full U. S. Senate term, while John D. Hoblitzell received 1,878 to 707 for Jennings Randolph and Byrd are Democrats.

Incumbent Larkin B. Ours, Dorcas farmer, was returned to the House of Delegates for his third term by defeating Demo-

GOP Noose Snapped By Garrett Vote

Democrats scored a major victory in predominantly Republican Garrett County yesterday. When the smoke cleared after the result showed Democrats electing a state senator, two members of the House of Delegates, and two of the three members of the Board of Commissioners. The county also favored the Democratic candidate for governor.

Bernard I. Gonder Sr., a former state senator in 1943-47, who had endorsement of a number of prominent Republicans, defeated Sen. Clifford Friend by 310 votes. Gonder had opposed Friend in the last election and lost by one vote after a recount.

Cross Party Line

Crossing of party lines was evident in the voting which sent Elbert E. Buckel and Leslie E. Savage, Democrats to the House of Delegates, along with Eliza B. Bray, Republican. It is the first time in 80 years and first time in the county's political history voters sent Democrats to the House and left the Republicans with a minority of one.

Democrats Carl A. Schell and Eliza F. Garlitz were named to the county board along with Fred B. Glutlely, Republican. The last time a Democrat was elected to the Garrett board was in 1927 when Harvey Gortner was successful.

Republicans outnumber Democrats in Garrett 6,019 to 3,612. Voting machines were used for the first time and unofficial tabulation completed by 10:30 p. m.

Except for expressing their favoritism for Governor-elect J. Millard Tawes over the GOP opponent, James Devereux, voters went along with the Republicans (Continued on Page 22)

Couple Marks Anniversary

BEDFORD—A Centerville couple, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce C. Zembower, observed their fifty-fifth wedding anniversary quietly at home.

The Zembowers, natives of Bedford Valley, were married October 7, 1903, in Cumberland by Rev. W. A. Melvin of the Methodist Church.

There was no celebration to mark the anniversary. As Mrs. Zembower put it, "We had a little party on our golden wedding anniversary when our children brought us a television set. It's still working and we enjoy it very much."

Zembower, born September 18, 1876, is a retired farmer of nine years. He operated a small farm in Bedford Valley approximately a mile and a half from his present home.

Mrs. Zembower, the former Lena Nave, was born August 30, 1885.

They are parents of eight children—Mrs. Lorella Ryan and Mrs. Arvilla Moore, both of Akron; Mrs. Iva Sisk, Herman and Denver Zembower, of Cumberland; Mrs. Alberta Rose of RD 3, Bedford, and Nadeen and Orris, both at home.

Moorefield Club First In W. Va. To Enter Contest

MOOREFIELD—The Woman's Club of Moorefield is the first unit in the state to enter the newly launched 1958-1959 community achievement contest of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, according to an announcement by Miss Chloe Gifford, GFWC president, from Washington where the club's entry has been received.

Mrs. Roy Hamilton, president of the 56-member club, sent in the official entry card indicating her club's intention to submit a scrapbook report on its local community improvement activities by March 1, 1960.

One club will win a top national prize of $10,000 and others will share in the total of $65,000 in prizes offered by the Sears-Roebuck Foundation, co-sponsor of the contest with the General Federation.

All 15,000 United States member clubs of the GFWC, as well as its overseas affiliates, are eligible to enter.

In the previous community achievement contest completed in June 1958, 205 clubs participated from West Virginia. The two state winners which entered the national competition as finalists were: Woman's Civic Club, Mullens, and the nine Federated Women's clubs of Huntington.

The contest is an incentive for every federated woman's club to provide leadership for community action as follows: (1) Consider the needs of the community; (2) Determine the best ways to meet them; and (3) Organize cooperative forces in the community to reach the desired goal.

Paw Paw Methodist Church Re-Opening Slated Sunday

PAW PAW — Paw Paw Methodist Church, which has undergone an extensive remodeling program, will hold a Re-opening Day service Sunday at 10 a. m.

Rev. Richard L. Hamilton, pastor, will deliver the sermon and the choir, under the direction of Mrs. Maxine Gordon with Mrs. A. D. Slough as organist, will sing.

The finance committee, of which Mrs. J. I. Armstrong is chairman, has set a goal of $1,000 for the re-opening. The Nursery Department of the church will be opened for the first time during Sunday's worship service so that the younger parents will attend.

Following the service, the Sunday Church School will convene at 11 under the direction of Raymond Bucklew and Herman Goede, co-supervisors. The children's division will meet for devotionals in the social room while the youth and adult divisions will meet in the sanctuary.

Progress Noted
On the second Sunday of November 31 years ago, Paw Paw Methodist Church had a Re-opening Day. At a cost of $6,200 the congregation opened a building that housed the Sunday School, church social room and the church kitchen.

The entire debt was obliterated that day under the leadership of Rev. Stanley J. McFarland.

During the spring months of 1958, the Sunday School and church grew to such an extent that members realized something had to be done. More people were attending than there were seats, so the official board under the direction of its president, C. L. Gordon, appointed a committee to study the problem. This group returned with the idea of a limited building program amounting to $2,500. These first plans consisted of changing the entrance to the church so that a balcony could be added to the sanctuary for three Sunday School classes.

Later this amount was increased to $3,500 for a second floor over the kitchen for a nursery. When this plan seemed undesirable, upon the recommendation of Dr. Paul Wartner, Hagerstown district superintendent, the church considered the construction of a new addition. This would entail another $5,000 but the congregation decided that this had to be done and work commenced on the addition that would house a nursery, kindergarten, five other Sunday School classes and an addition to the present church social hall. As this latest move got under way and the necessity of borrowing additional funds arose, the people of the church decided that this was the time to do a complete remodeling program. New pews and carpet were added, floors were refinished and a church office, vestibule and rest rooms were constructed. Finally the improvements amounted to more than $12,000.

History Told
An interesting occurrence during the remodeling of the sanctuary was the finding of several old newspapers dated November 17, 1927. One was the Martinsburg Evening Journal, the other the Cumberland Alleganlian. In these two papers were included complete accounts of the 1927 program along with the programs for the Re-opening Day service.

The flowery language of the papers told us anything we read today and the descriptions of the events of the day proved interesting and amusing for workmen and members of the church. However, the papers of 1927 provided history for the church that had been lost.

Paw Paw Methodist Church, oldest church in this area, was established as a congregation in 1868. The first church was built in 1873. The present sanctuary is part of the original structure. The parsonage was built in 1876.

Scholarships Established

SHEPHERDSTOWN, W. Va. (UPI)—A check for $250 turned over to Shepherd College to cover damages done in a demonstration by some 25 Potomac State College "artists" last month will be used to establish two new scholarships for Potomac students.

The damage was inflicted when Potomac students invaded the Shepherd campus two days before the Oct. 11 football game between the old rivals and painted "Potomac" signs with white wash on several buildings.

Potomac President Dr. E. E. Church conducted an investigation following a protest by Shepherd President Dr. Oliver S. Ikenberry and the Shepherd student body. Church "fined" 25 Potomac students $10 each for their act.

The money which will be used to set up the scholarships—one for a girls student and one for a male—was presented to Ikenberry at a special Shepherd student assembly last week.

Keyser Stores Announce Christmas Shopping Hours

KEYSER — Plans for the Christmas store hours were formulated Monday by the Keyser Retail Merchants Association at Rosemont Restaurant. President Cyrus F. Davidson was in charge.

The group decided that stores will be closed between the hours of 11 a. m. and noon on Veterans' Day, November 11.

Christmas store hours are as follows: Business places will be open until 9 p. m. November 26, 27, December 1 and December 2. Starting Friday, December 12, they will be open every night until 9, through December 23. Stores will close Christmas Eve at 5 p. m.

A committee to decide on Christmas gifts for the children was appointed. It consists of William Agnew, J. E. Shay, and Richard Hayes.

Plan Golf Course
A campaign to sell stock to finance a golf course and country club for residents of this area got underway Monday. A committee headed by James H. Swadley Jr. and Charles H. Vossler, assisted by other interested persons, began circulating pledge sheets on which signers agree to purchase a certain number of shares of stock.

The estimated cost of constructing the course and a locker room and pro shop is $40,000. The promoters are offering 200 shares of stock valued at $200 each in the hopes of raising the necessary amount of money.

The signer does not purchase the stock at the present time. All he is asked to do is to pledge that he will purchase stock provided the full $40,000 worth is pledged throughout the area. When the full amount is assured, then the stock will be sold.

The proposed golf course will be on land leased from the Upper Potomac Shrine Club along Route 50 about eight miles from Keyser. The layout was designed by James Spencer, golf course architect of Oakland, who has supervised the construction of the Oakland course and others in this area.

It would be a nine-hole course on the ideal terrain near the Shrine Club, which would be used as a club house.

OAKLAND—An open house for both the new music room at Southern High School and offices of the Board of Education at the annex building Sunday, November 16, has been announced.

Open house for the music room will be from 2:30 to 4 p.m., and for the school board offices from 9:30 to 5. A musical program will be presented by the high school band under the direction of Raymond Borrell, in the music room, from 2:45 to 3:30. The new addition to the school facilities contains a 40 by 40-room and a corridor enclosing the walkway from the main building to the industrial arts and agriculture building.

The music room contains storage space for band instruments and uniforms, one practice room, and a large band room with permanent risers designed for band use. The room is lighted with skydomes and windows and is acoustically treated with latest Fiberglas material.

The room was built at a cost of $35,000 and money for construction was received from the state incentive fund for school construction.

Willard L. Hawkins, county superintendent of schools, said the completion of the new facility supplied a vital need at the school for an additional classroom and also removed the constant interference to other classes caused by the instrumental music program. William Hardisty and son, Lawrence, were the contractors.

While the school board has occupied its new quarters since June 15, it waited until this time to have open house in order to extend its invitation to the public to visit its headquarters at the same time the invitation was extended for the visit to the band room.

The front portion of the old annex building was remodeled and renovated to provide adequate and modern facilities for the Board of Education and staff. There is now a board meeting room, offices and storage, a fireproof vault for financial records, private offices for each supervisor, offices for the superintendent and secretarial help, a mimeograph room, curriculum library and conference room. The money used for this improvement was realized from the sale of the annex playground and from the sale of abandoned school properties.

The B&O pointed out in its application that the number of passengers using the trains declined from 6,800 in 1952 down to 4,200 in 1957. A further decrease to 1,957 for the first six months of this year was also noted by B&O.

MacPhail To Take Over As Orioles General Manager

Will Assume Office Post In Time For Winter Meet

BALTIMORE (AP)—Lee MacPhail will take over the general manager's job of the Baltimore Orioles from Paul Richards, who will devote his full attention to managing the team on the field, it was announced today.

The announcement by James Keelty Jr., Orioles president, confirmed recent reports that the 41-year-old MacPhail will give up the position of director of player personnel for the New York Yankees to come to Baltimore.

The son of Larry MacPhail, formerly an owner of the Yankees and Brooklyn Dodgers, will take over the end of this month in time for the winter meeting of baseball in Washington Dec. 1.

Richards had been both general and field manager since he was hired by the Orioles from the Chicago White Sox in 1935. As such, he personally has made practically every decision on signing of new players and trading of old.

Keelty's definition of MacPhail's position set forth a separation of powers.

MacPhail "will have the authority to approve and conclude all major deals and will confer with Manager Richards on any contemplated transfers of player personnel," Keelty stated.

"We feel the new arrangement—one in which MacPhail will function as general manager and Richards will devote his full attention to managing—cannot help but be in the best interests of the Orioles and the fans of Baltimore."

He added that MacPhail will have direct responsibility for all minor league operations, including the signing of young players and of all business details.

Keelty said that Richards was in full accord with the change.

He said the selection of MacPhail was on the personal recommendation of Richards and his "enthusiasm for the move is demonstrated by the fact that he has voluntarily relinquished the position of general manager."

Richards' contract extends through next year. Originally it had a clause giving him exclusive control of all player personnel both on the Orioles and throughout the farm system.

Art Ebers was the first Oriole general manager when Baltimore was granted the St. Louis franchise in the American League in 1954. The Orioles hired an executive vice president, Bill Walsingham, of the St. Louis Cardinals in 1956 for a three-year contract. It was cut short with Walsingham's resignation last week.

At the time, Walsingham said he would evaluate every deal and make recommendations to Keelty. However, outsiders felt that Walsingham never was consulted much.

MacPhail started his baseball career as business manager at Reading, Pa., in the Interstate League in 1942 and from 1940-44 worked part time in the front office of the Brooklyn Dodgers with his father.

He joined the Yankee organization, again with his father, in 1946 as business manager of Kansas City. Three years later he was named co-director of the Yankees, held the job alone for the next six years and last year was named director of player personnel.

Offense Records In ACC In Peril

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP)—Quarterbacks Norman Sneed of Wake Forest and Jack Cummings of North Carolina are threatening the Atlantic Coast Conference's total offense and passing records, but the ACC rushing mark apparently is safe.

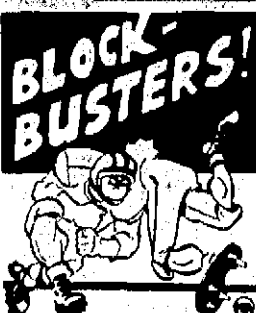

Duke's Wray Carlton, according to ACC Service Bureau figures today, continues to set the rushing pace with 416 yards in seven games. He has gained only 90 yards his last three games, however, and is 534 yards shy of the conference record with only three games left.

Carlton is being challenged by four other runners. Only 51 yards separates Carlton and the No. 5 man, Wade Smith of North Carolina who has 365 yards to his credit. In between are N.C. State's Ken Trowbridge with 402, Duke's George Dutrow with 397, and Wake Forest's Neil MacLean with 382.

Sneed has supplanted Cummings as total offense leader 786 yards to 730, and also in passing where he has completed 51 passes in 106 throws for 800 yards and four TDs. Cummings has completed 48 of 92 for 736 yards and seven scores.

Braves Sign Catcher

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (UPI)—The Milwaukee Braves have signed John McGrath of Brighton, Mass., to a contract with their Wellsboro, N.Y., farm club in the New York-Pennsylvania League. The 18-year-old catcher will report to Braves' minor league training camp at Weyers, Ga., next March.

PRINCETON was undefeated going into the fifth game of the 1950 season and so was Cornell, the last team to beat us in a 14-12 squeaker the year before.

It was the top game in the East.

It looked like it was going to be another light one. We were nursing a 7-0 lead in the second quarter, but Cornell had us backed up to our 24-yard line on second down.

Our quarterback, sensing the right opportunity, called a play we had been saving—the tailback keeping the ball on a fake reverse and continuing around the strong side while the draw of the play went off to the weak side with the wingback.

I had only two blockers, the fullback on the end and our weak-side wing who came across downfield.

Cornell went for the fake by the wingback all right—except for the defensive left halfback who stared me in the face as I broke through the line. At that exact moment, however, Ed Reed, our weak-side end, boomed across to hit the defender with a perfect angle block.

The rest of the 76 yards to a touchdown was a breeze.

We went on to a 27-0 victory and Princeton's first undefeated season since 1935, with Charley Caldwell receiving the Coach-of-the-Year award.

Jimmy Brown Still Leading Ground Gainer

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Jim Brown, who gained "only" 113 yards and scored "only" one touchdown Sunday against the New York Giants, continues to close in rapidly on National Football League records for rushing and touchdown scoring by an individual.

NFL statistics released today showed the big fullback of the Cleveland Browns has gained 928 yards running to leave him only 218 yards short of Steve Van Buren's league mark. His per game average is now 155 yards, which is maintained would enable him to break the record in his next two games.

His average for each of his 131 rushes is a startling 7.1 yards. Brown's TD as his team lost to the Giants brought his season total to 15 and a point total of 90 in six games. The league record for touchdowns in a season is 18, by Van Buren in 10 games.

Rookie Bob Mitchell, another Cleveland flash, is second in rushing with a total of 479 yards and Jon Arnett of the Los Angeles Rams moved into third with 381 yards.

Eddie LeBaron, Washington Redskins quarterback, has attempted 71 passes and completed 37 for 666 yards. Norm Van Brocklin of the Philadelphia Eagles has the most completions, 109 in 216 losses, and the most yards gained, 1,295.

Willie Galimore of the Chicago Bears is second among the scorers, with 60 points, 30 behind Brown. Len Moore of the Colts is third with 48.

Rockne 'Consummate Liar' On Day Of Football Game

By OSCAR FRALEY
United Press International

NEW YORK (UPI)—"Sleepy Jim" Crowley was carrying the ball again for the legendary "Four Horsemen" of Notre Dame as they discussed the late Knute Rockne.

"There never was a man with his integrity—except on the day of a football game," Crowley said. "On that day, Rock was a consummate liar."

There were chuckles, as he said this in Scranton, Pa., from Harry Stuhldreher in Pittsburgh, Elmer Layden in Chicago and Don Miller in Cleveland.

For this was a five-way telephone conversation as they discussed the profile of Rockne to be televised Sunday by CBS in its "20th Century Series."

"On the day of a game," Crowley added, "he was a great orator, a great actor who could make his lips tremble at will and put a lump in his throat—as well as, like I said, a consummate liar."

In substantiation, Crowley told of the 1923 game against Army. Rockne moped into the dressing room and, with a deep sigh, told his gridiron gladiators:

Fires Up Team
"I just heard Army is not only going to kick us off the field but also off their schedule."

So Notre Dame charged out and won the game.

"And we found out on Monday that the day before the game Rockne had signed a new agreement with Army for five more years," Crowley summed up.

Miller, breaking in from Cleveland, told of 1925 when Notre Dame was trailing Northwestern, 10 to 0, at half time. Rockne had been studying Catholicism and, storming into the dressing room, raged at his team:

"This is a fine religion you got me into, so now, when I'm converted, you let those Methodists come down here from Chicago and walk all over us."

Notre Dame barged out and came back to win 13 to 10.

"But," Miller added, "what we didn't know was that Rock wasn't a Catholic. It was a year later before he became one."

Rockne Ben Mole
They talked, as if they were face to face, about the Rockne ben mole which became a part of football history. Like the time he said:

"Okay, now let's try old 91—the play that was so successful against Laporte Millinery last fall."

And his description of brains and football:

"It seems to me to be quite illogical when people think that 11 football players who are very smart and alert on the field must therefore be very dull and stupid in the classroom. And it seems illogical to think that because if those boys are very dull and stupid on the football field they of course are going to be good students in the classroom."

Layden added soberly that the Rock was a "great inspirational leader" but Stuhldreher summed it up best.

"He worked on your pride," said little Harry. "He always called us 'men,' not boys. So we played that much harder to live up to that 'man' label. And it wasn't 'my' team, it was 'our' team."

Hearing them talk, you knew that because of "Rock" it still is.

Daily Double Pays $2,238

SALEM, N.H. (AP)—One of the largest daily doubles in harness racing history, $2,238.80, was paid to four lucky $2 ticket holders at Rockingham Park harness race track Tuesday night.

Maryland Amazon, a 44-1 shot, won the first race and Iris Mae, 23-1, took the second. It was Maryland Amazon's fourth win in 28 starts this year. Iris Mae won for the second time in 30 starts.

Colleges Plea For Increased Sports Events

NEW YORK (UPI)—College athletic officials today issued a collective plea for increased sports activities and facilities at our higher institutes of learning. The plea was based on an extensive National Collegiate Athletic Association survey on college athletics, physical education and recreational programs which revealed:

—A critical lack of indoor and outdoor facilities at many educational institutions; for example, seven of 395 schools surveyed did not have gymnasiums and 50 did not have softball diamonds.

—Inadequate provisions for required physical education; 56 of 395 colleges do not require physical education for men; only 35.5 per cent of college male undergraduates are enrolled in physical education courses.

Math Over Muscles
The college athletic leaders also pointed out that mathematics is being stressed in some schools at the expense of muscles.

"Correlation between a sound body and a sound mind makes it mandatory that physical fitness planning maintain pace with programs designed to produce scientists," they warned.

Tom Hamilton, athletic director at the University of Pittsburgh and chairman of the NCAA Youth Fitness Committee, indicated many sports programs were sidetracked when Russia placed its "Sputnik" in orbit around the earth.

Sputnik Blamed

"The advent of Sputnik caused a wild rush to produce scientists and mathematicians at the expense of other vital educational objectives," Hamilton said. "While no one can quarrel with these aims as such, there has been a continual disregard for the physical welfare of the student."

On the brighter side, the NCAA survey showed participation and expenditures in intercollegiate athletic, intramural and recreational activity at an all-time high.

Centre Street Hits All-Time Church Pin High

Centre Street Methodist rolled a new all-time high in the City Church Bowling League with a sizzling 966 but the effort wasn't enough to prevent St. John's Lutheran from winning one of three from the record-breakers.

Art Gordon led the Methodists in the one-game assault with a 237 and Leo Leasure contributed 217. Harry Parker contributed 186, George Eyer had 189 and Leo McGinn 163.

Central Methodist helped St. Luke's Lutheran tie the Grace Methodist for first place by shutting out Grace while St. Luke's was blanketing Trinity Lutheran. Grace Baptist topped Zion Methodist, 2-1, in the other match.

Parker posted the week's high set with 327 and Jack Shriver was runnerup with 311, including a 234 game. Other leaders were Mike Weltman, 183-468, St. John's; Fred Hamilton, 188-496, Grace Baptist; Charley Robbette, 191-496, Zion; Charles (Dill) Fradiska, 192-490, St. Luke's; Ken Mahaney, 176 and Gene Howell, Trinity; Bill Stevenson, 171 and Fritz Showers, 466, Grace. Gordon's 231 was the best game count of the week. Standings:

W. L.	W. L.
Grace Meth. 17 10	Zion 14 13
St. Luke's 17 10	St. John's 14 13

Nation's Top Elevens Get Victory Nod

NEW YORK (UPI)—College football's top-ranked teams, with only one exception, are strong favorites for their weekend engagements.

The South was picked as having the strongest football teams in the pre-season poll of sportswriters and broadcasters by The Associated Press. Six teams were picked to finish among the top 20 at the season's close. The latest tabulations still show six:

But the Midwest, with five teams picked in September, have six now. The Southwest has three instead of four as originally picked. The East, with three, and the Rocky Mountain-Far West region, with one, are as picked.

Louisiana State, the nation's top ranked team, was unopposed in September. So was Florida (No. 19). But Mississippi State and Miami, 15th and 16th originally, are now unranked among Southern teams.

Northwestern (No. 4) and Purdue (No. 8) have done the unexpected, while Michigan State, picked fourth, is out of sight in the Midwest.

Texas and Texas A&M, 11th and 20th by the September swamis, are gone, and Rice (No. 13) popped in surprisingly.

Oklahoma (No. 6) still upholds the Midlands, while 12th ranked Syracuse and 18th rated Rutgers look over for Navy and Pitt, 7th and 18th originally, in the East.

Army (No. 3) is the only survivor.

The Air Force Academy, 10th ranked, replaced Oregon State, a No. 12 choice in the Far West, but OSC may have the last laugh as it heads the pack for the host spot in the Rose Bowl.

Auburn (No. 4) is the only team to be where the experts picked it to finish three weeks hence.

Purdue, Syracuse and Oklahoma all underwent defensive drills Tuesday, preparing for the weekend's games.

Syracuse's Coach Ben Schwartzwalder picked soph linebacker John Nichols as his No. 1 defensive man as he headed for Friday night's game with Boston University. Nichols usually gives way to senior Dave Applehot for soph Al Beniller on offense.

Purdue concentrated on stopping Ohio State's Bob White and Don Clark Saturday, while resting fullback Bob Jarus and halfback Clyde Washington, sidelined with injuries.

Bud Wilkinson put his Sooners through some offensive workouts (too, planning no lineup changes for the Iowa State game Saturday).

Northwestern polished off defensive drills against Wisconsin plays with a short defensive scrimmage, with only fullback Mike Stock a doubtful participant Saturday. He has an injured ankle.

LaSalle Whips Romney 19 To 7

LaSalle High's Junior Varsity whipped Romney's Jayvees yesterday, 19-7, in the Hampshire County town.

Coach Don Harden's gridders scored touchdowns in the second, third and fourth periods while Romney tallied in the third quarter.

Ron Speir accounted for two of LaSalle's scores, the first on a 58-yard run and the second on a 20-yard pass from Allen Luck. Ed Melvin passed 15 yards to Don Harden, Jr., for the third point. Harden kicked the extra point.

LaSalle's record is now 3-1. The Little Explorers play Allegany's Jayvees tomorrow at Campobello.

Martinez Faces Redl Dec. 6 At Newark

NEWARK, N. J. (UPI)—Vince Martinez of Paterson, N. J., has signed to meet Stefan Redl, formerly of Germany but currently living in Passaic, N. J., in a 10-round bout at the Newark Armory, Dec. 6. Martinez was stopped by Virgil Akins in the fourth round at St. Louis last June 6 in his bid to win the vacant welterweight title.

New Faces On Gridiron Map, But Pre-Season Dope Holds

By JACK CLARY
Associated Press Sports Writer

Those new faces on the map of football's 1956 powers have not upset the pre-season dope on the purported balance of power. The names are different, that's all.

The South was picked as having the strongest football teams in the pre-season poll of sportswriters and broadcasters by The Associated Press. Six teams were picked to finish among the top 20 at the season's close. The latest tabulations still show six:

Columbus Back In Sally Loop

COLUMBUS, Ga. (AP)—Columbus returned to the Class A South Atlantic League Tuesday night when it was announced by Club President Hugh McMeth that the team would work next season with the Pittsburgh Pirates.

"The only thing that stands in the way of becoming a member of the Sally League is the formal acceptance of Columbus by the South Atlantic League directors," McMeth said.

Twilight League Will Meet Tonight

The Twilight Baseball League will meet today at 7 p.m. at Winebrenner's Tavern in Klondyke.

Brown Seen As Favorite Over Busso

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Lightweight champion Joe Brown, unbeaten in his past 20 fights, was a 13-5 favorite to add the name of Johnny Busso of New York to his list of victims in a nationally televised non-title fight tonight.

A ringside audience of about 6,000 was expected for the opening event in this resort city's plush new Exhibition Hall which seats 17,000.

"I'm in the best shape of my life," said Brown, who has been knocked out only three times in his career.

Busso, who has been flattened only once, says Brown hasn't fought a good puncher yet, and he adds: "I'm a good puncher."

Brown has won 71, including 22 by knockout, while losing 15. Two of his fights ended in "no contest" rulings and he fought nine draws.

Busso, with a 34-7-1 record, has won 15 by knockout.

Tonight's 10-round event will be scored under Florida rules, which give 10 points to the winner and 9 or less to the loser of each round.

Fight time is 10 p.m. The bout will be carried by ABC-TV.

Jockey Suffers Fracture

CAMDEN, N.J. (UPI)—Jockey Bob Corle suffered a slight fracture of his left leg Tuesday when he was thrown from Shannondale during the fourth race at Garden State Park. Corle escaped injury earlier when he was tossed from Busser's Bean in the opening race.

Army Guard Given Solid Vote By Team

By JACK MAND
Associated Press Sports Writer
WEST POINT, N.Y. (AP)—Bob Novogratz, Army's "weak" side guard and left linebacker, draws a solid vote from all precincts of the Cadets' coaching staff.

"If there is a better guard in the country, I don't know who he is," said Earl (Red) Blaik, Army's head coach.

"Bob could play pro ball right now. I'd make him a defensive end," said Frank Lauterbur, defensive line coach who used to have the same job with the Baltimore Colts.

"The best I ever saw," said Bill Gunkel, new offensive line coach who sent two Ohio men up to the pro ranks.

Watch No. 61
Pete Dawkins, Bob Anderson and Bill Carpenter ("the loose-end") are the names you read most in the papers. If you watch Army play football, you can't miss No. 61, Mr. Novogratz from Northampton, Pa.

"Novo" as the Cadets call him when they roar for him to speak, is a solid 6-2, 210 pounder. He didn't expect to go to college when he came to West Point, nobody expected him to turn out to be the football player that he became.

Over 30 Tackles
The coaching staff decided to move Novogratz from his 1937 job as "middle guard" to a linebacker on defense. When they first made the change in spring practice, they had to do a selling job. No more. Novo made over 30 tackles in the first six games, recovered three fumbles, intercepted one pass and deflected another that wound up in an interception and a touchdown.

Army's future opponents—Rice, Villanova and Navy—already have their scouting files crammed full of data on Novo. It's about time the men who pick all-star teams started looking his way.

Milstead Out For Nation's Offense Title

NEW YORK (AP)—Quarterback Charley Milstead of Texas A&M is shooting for the first national total offense title in major college football by a Southwest Conference player in 20 years.

And if he misses, Billy Austin of Rutgers might make off with the first offense sweep since 1937. Milstead gained only 346 yards in his first four games. But he passed and ran for 660 yards in his last three.

Last weekend, he collected 233 yards (the season's one-man high) against Arkansas and took over the total offense lead with 1,006 yards for the season—779 passing, 227 running.

Milstead is the only new individual leader this week the passed Virginia Tech's Bill Hoislaw according to statistics released today by the NCAA Service Bureau. Dick Bass of College of Pacific still is tops in rushing with 700 yards, and Utah's Lee Grosscup retained the passing with 64 completions.

Austin, a triple-threat tailback for unbeaten Rutgers, leads in scoring with 72 points on 11 touchdowns and six extra points. He's only 44 yards behind Bass in rushing, running for 407 in his last three games, and 76 yards behind Milstead in total offense.

Austin and Navy's Joe Tranchesi lead in TD passes with eight. Grosscup also leads in passing yardage, 801.

Rich Mayo of Air Force made the biggest jump among individual leaders, rising from 34th to 5th in passing by hitting 28 of 45 against Oklahoma State — third highest completion total ever.

Pitt Stresses Defensive Play

PITTSBURGH (UPI)—The University of Pittsburgh emphasized defense today since Coach John Michelosen believes that this is the weakest part of his squad's game.

"Our tackling was very shoddy in the Syracuse game," Michelosen said. "Sure they had good, hard runners but we just weren't hitting them."

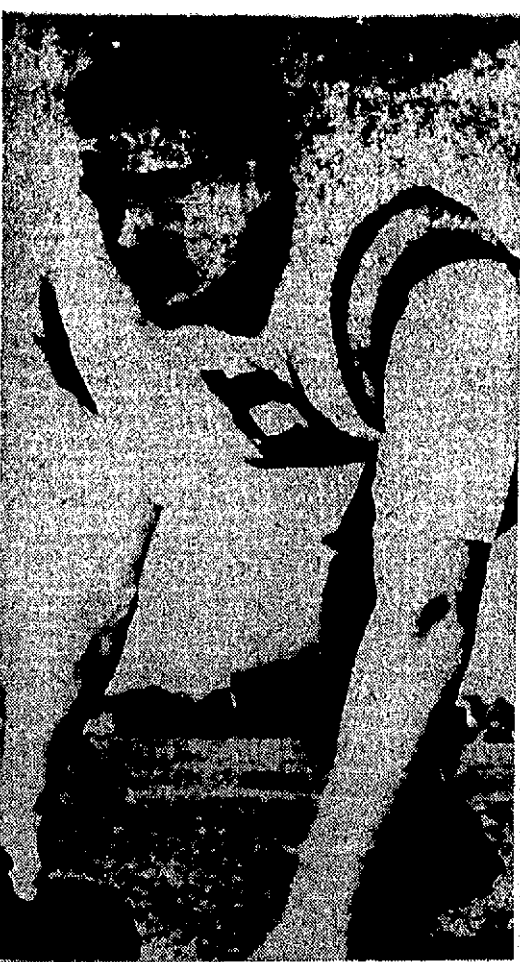

The Panthers off their loss to Syracuse hope to rebound Saturday when they meet Notre Dame at Pitt Stadium. The Irish have been established three-point favorites against Pitt.

Warnick Rolls 561 For Spamen

Peden Warnick rapped out a 210 game and 561 set for Spa Bar but it wasn't enough to prevent his team from losing one of its three games to Wonder Bar in the South End Liquor Dealers Bowling League.

Other loop action at the Capital alleys found Lynn & Roney blanking DAV, Veterans of Foreign Wars topping King's, 2-1, and Frank's Tavern beating Fourth District Democratic Club by the same score.

Warnick was the only bowler to hit a 500 set. Other leaders were Lou Wilson, 222-494, DAV; Tom Dentlinger, 217-489, Lynn & Roney; Jim Rice, 199 and Mack McKenzie, 424, Frank's; Bland, 192 and Harp Bland, 484, Democrats; Joe Nelson, 189, Fred Corbin, 188 and Mil Dean, 464, YFV, and Walter Cox, 174, Wonder Bar.

TOP LINEMAN—Louisiana State University center Mas Fugler has been chosen by The Associated Press as Lineman Of The Week. Fugler, who said the award should have been divided 33 ways, was named for his devastating linebacking in the 14-0 defeat of previously unbeaten Mississippi last week.

Minor League Bosses Open Special Meet

By JOE REICHLER

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—Franchise shifts, league mergers and other changes affecting the entire minor league structure may result from a special meeting of seven high classification circuits which opened today.

Representatives of 54 teams will sit on the two-day sessions. The unprecedented gathering was called by President George Trautman of the National Assn. at the request of Bill DeWitt, baseball co-ordinator and administrator of the Major League Fund. DeWitt will report on his findings following an exhaustive summer-long survey of the minor league situation.

The seven leagues involved are the Pacific Coast (AAA) American Assn., (AAA), International (AAA), Southern Assn. (AA), Texas (AA), South Atlantic (A) and Western (A).

Although no legislative action is expected here, it is DeWitt's belief that several franchise shifts and possibly a league merger may develop after the draft meetings in Washington next month.

"We have learned that several clubs are in favor of becoming affiliated with different leagues," said DeWitt. "It's highly possible that switching of clubs or consolidation of leagues might occur here. With all the teams and leagues representatives on hand, many changes could result. Under baseball law, however, they would not become effective until after the draft meetings in December when players' contracts, frozen since October 15, can again be transferred."

DeWitt said he was not at liberty to reveal what clubs were seeking shifts or which leagues were considering consolidation. It is no secret, though, that the St. Louis Cardinals do not intend to operate their Houston farm unless the Texas League club is promoted to the American Assn. in place of the Louisville club, which recently declared it could not operate next year unless its finances were underwritten by a major league club.

The American Assn. may be faced with another problem if Milwaukee makes good its threat to attempt to move its Wichita franchise to Jacksonville, now in the Sally League. One of the leagues anxious to consolidate is the Western, which has a transportation problem resulting from the more than 1,000-mile spread between Albuquerque and Sioux City.

DeWitt emphasized that any realignment action taken at the meetings or at any subsequent meeting, will be voluntary on the part of the club owners and league officials.

Sand's Death Recalls 1924 Scandal Case

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—The death of Heinie Sand in San Francisco Monday recalls the Jimmy O'Connell scandal that rocked baseball in 1924.

Oldtimers will remember the banishment from baseball of the prized rookie outfielder for the New York Giants, but the passage of 34 years has made the incident virtually unknown to the younger generation.

It happened on a Saturday in Philadelphia in September of 1924 when the Giants, engaged in a hot fight for the National League pennant with the Brooklyn Dodgers, opened a series with the second division Phillies at Baker Bowl.

During infield practice O'Connell assertedly approached Sand, then playing shortstop for the Phils, and offered him $500 "not to bear down too hard." At the time the Giants needed to win a game or two to clinch the pennant.

Sand laughed off the incident, but that night told his manager, Art Fletcher, John A. Heydler, then president of the National League, was informed. He, in turn, notified Kenesaw M. Landis, commissioner of baseball.

Landis made a quick overnight train trip from his Chicago office to New York and held a secret hearing after which Landis announced he had banished O'Connell and Giant Coach Cozy Dolan on charges of bribery. This happened on Oct. 1, only a few days before the opening of the World Series between the Giants, who, meantime, had won the pennant, and the Washington Senators.

Sand, who broke into baseball with Salt Lake City of the Pacific Coast League before moving up to the majors, died after a two-month illness. Funeral services will be held Thursday.

Gary Kerkorian Will Return To Baltimore Colts

BALTIMORE (AP)—Lawyer Gary Kerkorian of Inglewood, Calif., is trading his briefcase for a football to get the Baltimore Colts out of a hole.

It is the second time that the former National Football League quarterback has come out of retirement to give the Colts a hand. This time it was prompted by the loss of Baltimore's brilliant quarterback Johnny Unitas for three weeks and possibly four.

The Colts management confirmed reluctantly that Unitas, who has led the Colts to six straight victories and the top of the Western Conference, suffered three fractured ribs in last Sunday's game with the Green Bay Packers.

They had contended previously that Unitas' injury was only a bruise and that he would be ready for the New York Giants game next weekend.

Kerkorian, No. 1 Colts quarterback in 1954—his first year out of Stanford—flies into Baltimore today. Said General Manager Don Kellest: "If we can get together on terms, Gary should be with the club for Thursday's practice and I can see no reason why we can't come to a speedy agreement."

Kerkorian's previous rescue of Baltimore was during the 1958 season when quarterback George Shaw, from Oregon, banged up his knee. Unitas was an untied player from Louisville then.

The Colts asked Kerkorian, who was a law student at Georgetown University in Washington, D. C., to come back to work. He did. But he threw only two passes before Unitas caught fire. So at season's end, Kerkorian stepped down again, as he had done at the end of the 1955 season.

AP Returns Thornton As Back of Week

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Quarterback Dick Thornton, a precocious kid who lied about his age when he reported at Northwestern two years ago so no one would know he was only 17, is the Associated Press back of the week for the second time this season.

A 6-foot, 160-pound sophomore who marked his 19th birthday by whipping a pair of louchdown passes as the Wildcats surprised Ohio State Saturday, 21-0, Thornton repeated as the nation's top backfield star in a close vote with Notre Dame's George Izo and the Air Force Academy's Rich Mayo.

Thornton, who went to Northwestern because he wanted to be a dentist and because the Evansville, Ill., campus is so close to his Chicago home, also was named back of the week when Northwestern shocked Michigan two weeks ago, 55-12.

Izo, the 265-pound, 6-2 Notre Dame junior, was starting quarterback against Navy, and he threw for three TDs in a 40-20 victory.

Mayo, who connected on 28 of 45 passes for 215 yards piched seven on a 72-yard comeback in the final minute for a 33-29 victory over Oklahoma State that kept the Air Force unbeaten.

Other backs who caught the eyes of the voters were: Don Allard, Boston College quarterback, completed nine of 17 passes for 168 yards and pulled off a telling interception in a 25-12 victory over College of Pacific.

Dick Bass, COP halfback gained 52 yards in 19 rushes, returned five kicks for 143 yards and scored all 12 points.

Joe Alberty, Arkansas fullback, returned kickoff 77 yards, setting up winning TD in 21-8 upset over Texas A&M.

Leaders Score In Legion Loop

The first-place Sergeants and runner-up Lieutenants scored sweep victories in the American Legion Mixed Bowling League on the Savoy alleys, defeating Corporals and Captains, respectively.

Buck Privates topped Yard Birds, 2-1, in the other match. Puzzled Claassen Still Continues Selections

By HAROLD CLAASSEN
AP Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—It's balomple in Spanish. It's futbol in Russian. But football in the U.S. is sheer madness. Especially in making selections. Last week there were 17 mistakes scattered among the 56 picks. Here are the winners this weekend:

Louisiana State over Duke: The LSU Tigers so numerous now they play in complete platoons. Duke, a virtual putty in its own league, knocks off others with regularity and could make it tough for Louisiana State.

Iowa over Minnesota: In Iowa's dreary days, this was the Hawkeyes' game of games. The Gophers are woefully weak and Iowa steps another stride toward a Big Ten title.

Army over Rice: Dawkins and Walters rejoin Anderson and Caldwell in the Cadets' first string backfield. They will be too fast for Rice.

Wisconsin over Northwestern: Midnight has struck for the Big Ten's Cluderella football team. Auburn over Mississippi State: The Maroons are disappointing and Auburn has no sympathy.

Sees Sonners

Oklahoma over Iowa State: Iowa State has scored only two touchdowns on four Big Eight games. A half-touchdown a game average is not enough to beat the Sooners.

Ohio State over Purdue: Purdue will suffer because Northwestern beat the Buckeyes last week. Mississippi over Houston: The Texans have slipped since their furious start.

Air Force over Denver: Those high flyers remain unbeaten. Texas Christian over Marquette: Jack Spikes and Hunter Enis have themselves an evening out.

Syracuse over Boston University: The Orangemen are playing for the benefit of bowl scouts. Cornell over Brown: Tom Skyepeck, Cornell quarterback, has been tearing the Ivy League apart. Southern California over Washington: Remember when this one sent the entire West Coast into a lizzy?

Irish Over Pitt

North Carolina over Virginia: Now that the Carolinians have given Don Klockak the green light they are even laugher than before. Notre Dame over Pittsburgh: One of Pitt's best postwar teams goes a third week without a victory because of George Izo's passing.

Washington State over Oregon State: Bob Newman's flips will be decisive. Skipping over the others in a hurry:

Friday
Florida State over Miami, Alabama over Tulane.

Saturday
EAST: Boston College over Detroit, Holy Cross over Colgate, Dartmouth over Columbia, Navy.

Engle Expects Aerial Attack This Saturday

By ROSSON

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (UPI)—Penn State Coach Rip Engle is pulling the accent on pass defense this week during workouts in expectations of an aerial assault from the West Virginia Mountaineers at Morgantown, W. Va., Saturday.

Engle's scouts told him that Mountaineer quarterback Dick Longfellow was one "of the best passers Penn State will face this season." As a result, Engle has stressed pass defense and will continue to do so until the Lions leave for Morgantown.

The team did not scrimmage Tuesday, normally a day for contract drills.

"We just couldn't take a chance on any more injuries," Engle said. "Last Tuesday we lost Bruce Gilmore our leading ground gainer for the season. We can't afford to lose anyone else."

Networks Each Claim Victory In Election

By WILLIAM EWALD
United Press International

NEW YORK (UPI)—All three networks will be claiming victories over each other today. But on the basis of late returns, here is the straight election night dope:

1. At NBC-TV, staffers consumed 45 gallons of coffee, 1100 sandwiches, 12 layer cakes, 15 gallons of potato salad, 8 gallons of baked beans and 48 cherry apple, pumpkin and coconut custard pies.

2. At CBS-TV, staffers waded into 45 gallons of coffee, 830 sandwiches, 1000 pieces of pastry and three bagels. It was suggested that some partisan might have sneaked the bagels in from the Rockefeller-Harriman campaign.

3. At ABC-TV, the assembled horde downed 57 gallons of coffee, 1000 assorted sandwiches and 500 pieces of baked goods including cheesecakes, brownies and chocolate layers, all of which were supplied by the sponsor who, incidentally, makes cheesecakes, brownies and chocolate layers.

Various Categories

As I see it, this gives NBC-TV the victory in sandwiches, baked beans, potato salad and peach apple, cherry and coconut custard pies. ABC-TV clearly gets the win in coffee and cheesecake and brownies. And CBS-TV came up with a clear lead in pastry as well as bagels, although the latter victory is a hollow one.

Aside from gustatory matters, these other things happened on TV:

All three networks trotted out awesome mechanical monsters with names like UNIVAC, RAMAC, and UEDPS, but at one network, NBC-TV, two newsmen could be spotted working in green eyeshades. . . CBS-TV's Doug Edwards reported over the air that a lady in Michigan had accused the network of placing a man in

Best Defense Is Overlooked

BY OSWALD JACOBY

Written for NEA Service

North and South have a cheap save at four spades against West's heart game, but not one pair at the summer Nationals chose to take it.

The normal opening lead was a trump and West would lead a spade to dummy. North usually played the ace and led back the queen, whereupon declarer would take dummy's king, ruff the last spade, draw the last trump and lead a diamond. North would take his king and play a second diamond to his partner's ace.

At this point, South would see that he could not afford a third diamond lead and would play the deuce of clubs. West's eight trumps would force North's jack and West would proceed to finesse against South's queen and make his contract.

If North plays the king of diamonds right after winning his ace of spades he can beat the hand, since declarer will have to play the clubs himself, but no North player found that defense.

However, a couple of Souths did find a defense. Instead of playing the deuce of clubs they led the queen. This fooled West and he won in dummy and played South for having the club jack also. Curtains for West! Top for South!
